Gene "Things" C3

Dear Gene -

Well - another year over - thank goodness
We've been locker pardners for three years and will be next year. It was to bad somebody couldn't have gone with you to Emporia, you would have done better I know
Next year ought to be your big year in track. I know you will win the half at the state next year. We've sure had a load of these years and we will have more fun this summer (baseball). I've been playing softball but will start playing baseball very soon. I'm not so good at writing and ~~to~~ putting my thoughts down but I think your solid and hope very much that we may be friends for many years to come. I suppose you will go right into the air corps when you finish school and I know you will be a grade A flyer.
I haven't run out of space but I have run out of words. I do want to say though, that you're a swell guy and a swell locker pardner.

an admiring friend and locker
pardner;

Jack Caskey -

Dear Gene
 certainly enjoyed knowing you & working with you as long as I have. I wish you that I have had & much happen
 in your life.
 Sincerely,
 "Shodie"

Go a swell
 I know, had a good crutch with this English class maybe you will be better to the one in a well sur class. I feel best as wishing a happy summer of yours. Asusbottom

Good luck
 a fellow and scout may he have a good time as a sea scout. Much, much luck.

Dear Gene
 I've sure enjoyed your friendship this year. For this is the first year
 I've really known
 you. I think you're swell. You are a swell "trackster"
 Good Luck

Etz, old boy, it rather appears that they wrote this annual in your honor. I don't blame them. I don't think there's another guy in school who deserves it more. Best of luck and hooray for the sea scouts.

AN "EYES UP EDITION"

OF THE STUDENTS OF

THE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

INDEPENDENCE » KANSAS

★ S W I T C H ★ ★ ★ ★ O N

The class of '42 presents the "Eyes Up" edition of the Orange and Black. Herein lies our tribute to the aviation industry; an industry born of this century, an industry which did much to bring about the modern living conditions of the "Pre-Pearl Harbor" era, an industry which since that time has converted itself quickly and efficiently to meet the needs of an all-out war effort, an industry which is providing aluminum wings for the American Eagle to keep him flying unchallenged.

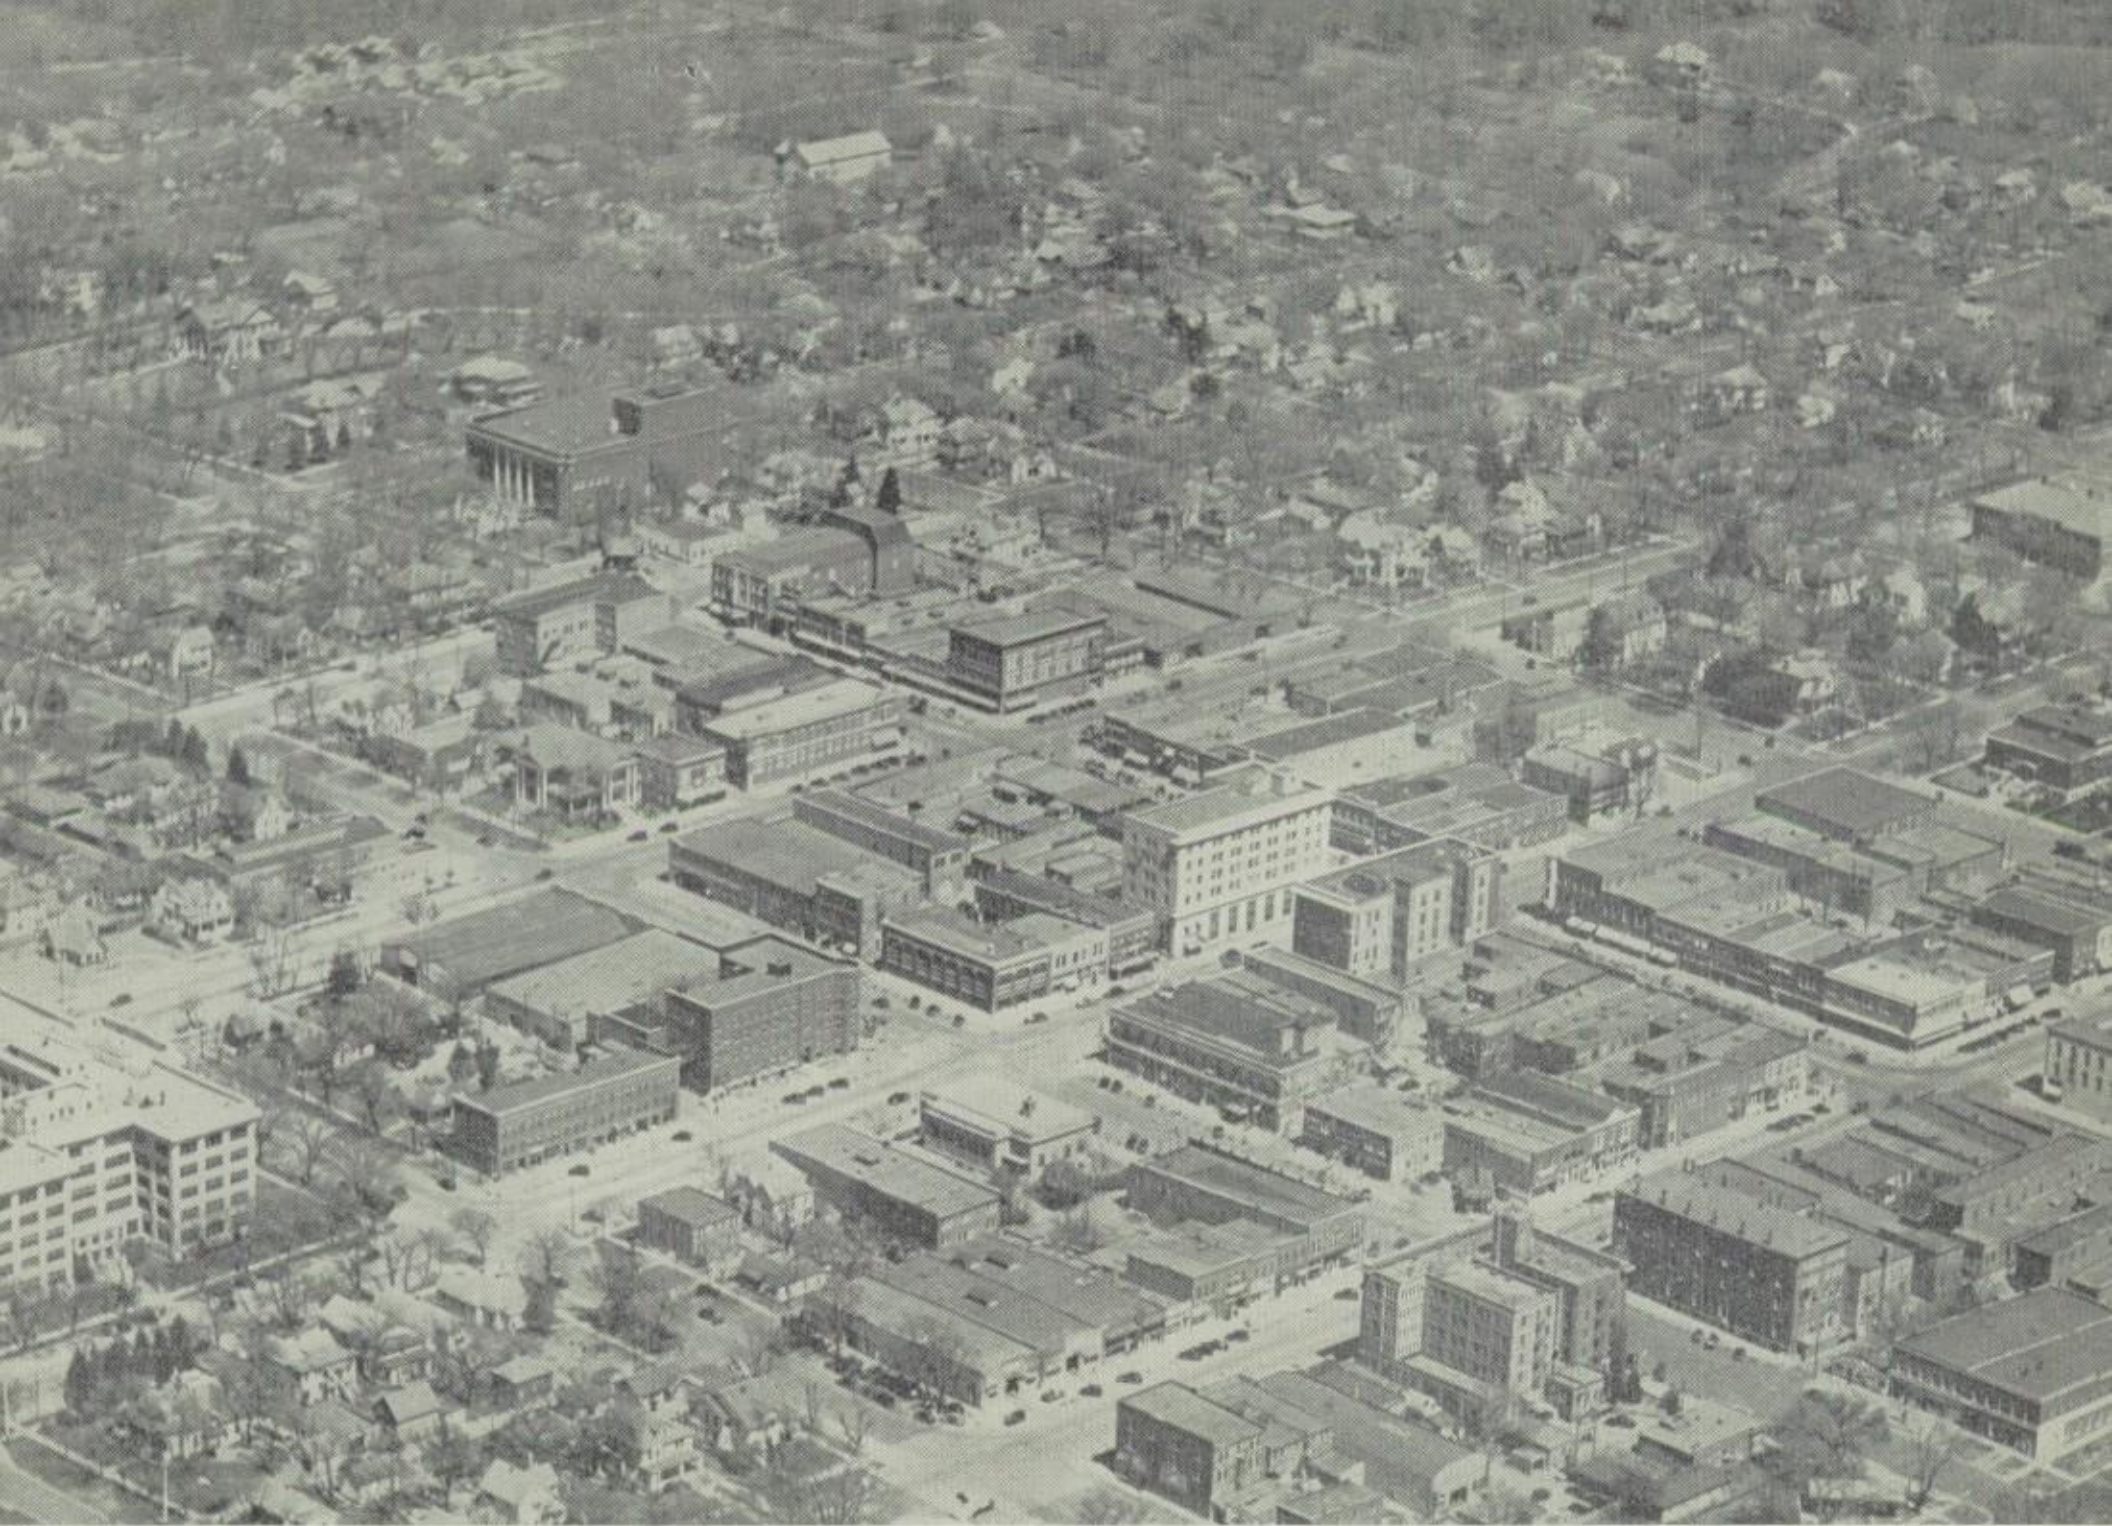

Locally, attention is being turned upon aviation as the airport project materializes. A generation ago, isolation and stagnation awaited the town without a railroad. In less than a generation hence, the same may be true of a town without adequate air facilities. The airport will be located six miles southwest of Independence, and the cost of it will be some $350,000.00. Later it may be expanded for use as an army or naval air base. The Independence Municipal Airport is a project designed to keep our town in tune with today.

As a student and a person of the 1940's, you will find aviation playing an increasingly important part in your life. Many more will be taking C. P. T. training, others will be joining the army and naval air forces, and the rest of us will be uttering a prayer for the invincibility of a defense that incorporates the man-made bird of the blue.

The class of '42 salutes aviation, Independence, and you.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Board of Education of the city of Independence is composed of President Richard P. Scott, Clyde O. Braden, Clair V. Dennis, Jr., Cecil W. Hunt, Sam E. McDaniel, and Leon A. Sherwood. Miss Florence E. Harper is Clerk of the Board. Superintendent Willard J. Graff is an ex-officio member.

The Board of Education enjoys the happy working relationship that is so essential to the successful administering of a school system. The various members have shown themselves willing and anxious to cooperate fully in any program of education that will improve the opportunities of the Independence children and at the same time adequately protect those who support the schools. They have given unsparingly of their time and talent in order that the school's business might be carried on with dispatch and wisdom.

Independence teachers and parents can enjoy the assurance that comes from knowing they have a Board of Education that is alert to its opportunities and obligations, and diligent in its desires to maintain a sanely progressive school system.

Holding the position of squadron leader is our principal, Mr. E. R. Stevens. He has sixteen years of experience behind him and is adequately suited to his work with students. The squadron will reach its objective under his efficient leadership.

SENIORS

The "Senior Cadets" of '42 have finally attained the goal they have been striving for, that of graduation from high school.

The members of the class have taken part in many school activities such as debate, dramatics, science, art, and musical organizations. The class of '42 has been well represented in the Pep club, Drum corps, and school band. They have taken part in many extra curricular activities.

The class of '42 is proud of its scholastic ability through the four years. Although there was no honor roll this year, the members of the senior class have always been strongly represented in past years.

As freshmen they were just embarking on their high school careers. When they were sophomores they were beginning to realize the importance of their high school education and as juniors they were doing their best to earn the title of seniors.

They have come through their high school years in times of worldly strife and dissention. Many members of the class have joined the armed forces of the United States and it is inevitable that many more will join upon being graduated.

The class is approximately 200 strong. Although many students have dropped out since entering the freshmen class, many new ones have joined the ranks.

Their class has not been an outstanding one in athletic events, but a large number of seniors have lettered in athletics throughout their four years of high school.

Much of the credit for the success of the senior class of '42 goes to the faculty, principal, superintendent, and school board.

The senior class officers are outstanding students. Bud Sands, president, was also president of the sophomore class. Patsy Nees, vice president, also held this office in her sophomore year. Jim Raglin, secretary, was president of the junior class. Charles Moss is treasurer, and Dolores Regan, assembly representative. Miss Ary Lewis has capably filled the position of class sponsor.

Looking back at their school life, the seniors of '42 feel that they have completed high school in a commendable manner, and have maintained the standards which were set by the classes which preceded them.

JUNIOR CLASS

As they approach their last year of training in the I. H. S. "flying school" the "cadets" look back with pride on the fine work done by the junior class of '42. From this class there have been many whose performances were outstanding throughout their years in senior high school. They have been well represented in golf, tennis, football, basketball, dramatics, the senior band, and orchestra and various other activities some of the boys deserve special recognition for their activities. They are Jack Barnes, Jack Fountain, and Harry Lee. These boys entered football in their freshmen year and together with Leroy Barrier and Eddie Hugill they will make up the backbone of the football team in '43. Gale Lehman also deserves credit for his good work in basketball.

Jack Barnes holds the presidency of the junior class, Sid Cox the vice-presidency, Alta Mae Baker the office of secretary, Diana Dunn, treasurer, and Thelma Maure is the assembly representative.

Besides being president of the junior class Jack has also held other offices and taken part in various activities since his entrance into senior high school. He has been vice-president of the senior Hi-Y, vice-president of the sophomore class and he has also taken an active part in football and tennis.

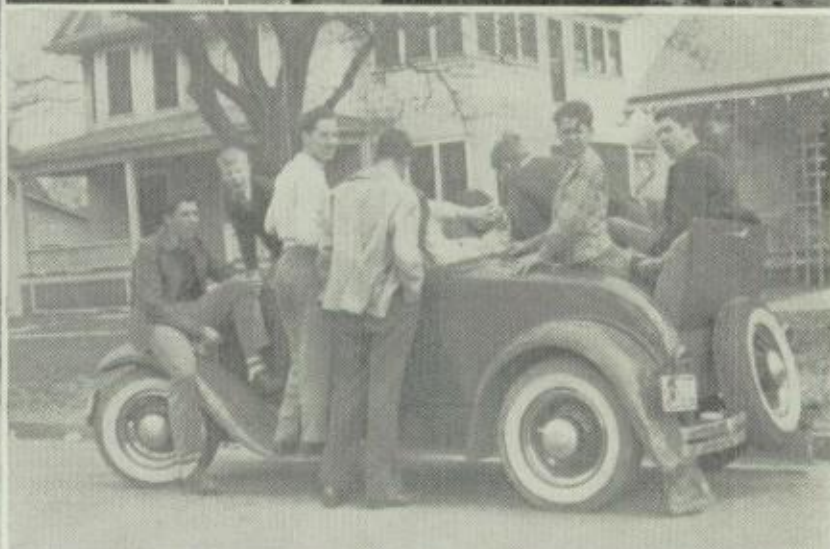

Sid Cox is also a leader in the junior class. Sid is a member of the Senior Hi-Y and besides being in the senior band and orchestra he was president of the sophomore class.

Alta Mae Baker, the secretary, has been a member of the Girls' Pep club, the Girl Reserves and the Girls' Athletic Association.

Diana Dunn, the treasurer, has also been a member of the Girls' Pep club, the Girls' Athletic Association, the Girl Reserves, and the Dramatics club.

Thelma Maure, assembly representative, has been a member of the Girls Athletic Association, the Pep club, and the Girl Reserves. Thelma was also the vice-president of the Art club this year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

SOPHOMORES '44

The sophomore class under the direction of its officers are off to a flying start in their high school career. They are out to win their wings, and judging by the part they have played in this year's activities, the goal will not be difficult to achieve.

Members of the class have proved their ability in maintaining scholastic standings and in joining with spirit and enthusiasm in the extra curricular activities of the school. They're on the campus, in the clubs, at the parties, in the classroom, and in the halls adding gaiety and life, adding beauty and brains, adding fun and frolic to the social functions and daily activities of the school.

Donald Aitken, outstanding scholastically and athletically, holds the position of class president. He is ably assisted by Dorothy Stephenson, talented musical student. Ella Mae Deltenre, winsome student of art, is class secretary; and laughing Jeanne Fraser, is treasurer. Dorothy Griffin, gay and friendly, is assembly representative.

Diane Stewart, Jimmy Hadley, George Ann Jenkins, and Jane Bailey are outstanding scholastic students, and play a prominent part in classroom and laboratory life.

Billy Bob Sims has been an invaluable addition to the senior high basketball team and greater things are expected of him in the next two years. Eddie Hugill and Donald Dennis are also on the basketball team. Jack Caskey participates in the spring sports, particularly tennis.

The class is adequately represented in the cultural classes of the high school. Jack Clark, Carol Dunn, Leon Sherwood, Billy Trumbly, Mary Lou Whitehead, and Jacqueline Tole have appeared in the shorter dramatic productions, and next year will be seen in the long plays.

Sweet Alice Ann Callahan and cousin Rosemary, contributed to the school with their musical talents. And Joe Turner ably represents the class in debate and public speaking.

These are but a few of the talented sophomore members of the school, but they serve to illustrate the abilities and potentialities of the group that will proudly form the class of '44.

THE CANINE COEDS

Since 1926, when the Girls' Pep Club was first organized by Miss Zella Spradling, it has been the custom for this club to help arouse enthusiasm in the student body and interest in the various sports events.

The club consists of twenty-four girls—sixteen seniors and eight juniors. The eight juniors are the ones that elect the members for the following year.

Throughout the school year the club joined in many activities. It is the duty of each member to help in the planning of pep assemblies, in money raising activities, and the support of the teams.

A great deal of credit should go to Miss Elva Hughes, sponsor of the organization, who worked untiringly to promote the success of the club.

During the football season Miss Dolores Regan was elected football queen by the team. Mary Jo Potter, Virginia Bryan, Patsy Nees, and Alta Mae Baker were chosen to be her attendants. The club presented an effective assembly program at that time, during which Dolores was crowned. Later she was presented an autographed football by the team.

The Pep club gave their annual lettermen's banquet March 24 in the school cafeteria. Following the banquet a dance was held in the physical education building.

The officers this year have been Virginia Bryan, president; Wilma Lou Jardine, vice president; Dolores Regan, secretary; and Shirley Gaughan, treasurer.

THE ART CLUB

Since membership in the Dauber's club is not limited to those enrolled in a full time art course, any high school or junior college student who has had two full years of art may have the opportunity of engaging in the club's activities.

The first trip was a Sunday visit to the Winfield high school art museum to observe and study a collection of South American prints by outstanding contemporary artists of our neighboring American countries.

Other activities included a memorial service in honor of Grant Wood, an outstanding mid-west artist of a neighboring state, Iowa.

An exhibit and talk about her doll collection was given by Mary Schreck. The club decorated the third floor windows at Chirstmas. These windows were painted in tempera to simulate stained glass church windows. The designs were planned by Bill Campbell and executed by Rob Robley and Bill Campbell with the assistance of a number of club members.

Illeane Littrell, a sophomore in the junior college, has served as president this year. Illeane plans to major in art education and has shown outstanding ability in lettering and metal work and should make an able teacher.

Other officers of the club are Thelma Maure, vice-president; Martha Brown Master, secretary first semester; Beryl Adams, secretary second semester; Martha Spellman, treasurer.

FOOTBALL

With the coming of September came football practice. The first practices saw fifty-six boys out for the team. Coach Wallace had twelve lettermen among these around whom he could build his team.

The final standing of the season did not show the actual strength of the fighting Bulldog team, for they finished in the lower division. The team, however, often outgained and out-played their foes only to lose by a small margin or to have the game end in a tie.

The Canines started the season against Fredonia in a game that was expected to be a walkaway for Fredonia. However, the Bulldogs gave warning to their S. E. K. opponents by holding the Yellowjackets to two touchdowns, scoring one themselves.

In competition within the league, the Bulldogs won one game; lost three and tied three. In no game during the season did any team make more than two touchdowns against the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs also outscored their opponents during the season.

The team finished the season against Coffeyville in the annual Thanksgiving game with a nip and tuck battle which ended as a scoreless tie.

On the S. E. K. all-star team Van Dolah won a place at end and Dick Herron with Jack Fountain were given honorable mention. Van Dolah won honorable mention on the all-state team.

CHEER LEADERS

The cheer leaders are elected by the student body at a special assembly given for that purpose early each year. At this time, two girls and two boys are chosen. The cheer leaders this year have been Patsy Nees, Mary Jo Potter, Bob Elliott, and Bud Kors. They have proved to be apt leaders and have capably filled their appointments.

BASKETBALL

Despite the fact that the Bulldogs occupied a low position in the league standing this year, they played every team a close game. They climaxed the season by defeating the Iola Mustangs, the fourth place holders and the only team to break Parsons string of twenty-two victories.

This year the team was composed of two former lettermen, Edison Shive and Jim Sherman. The boys had plenty of height and weight but very little experience. Excess fouling and poor free throwing was the dominant factor in many of the losses. Also the inability to make baskets was costly. The Bulldogs had more and better chances to make baskets than any team they played.

The outstanding feature of the squad was the sophomore team. It won every league game by large scores and twice defeated Bartlesville Central, which was conceded to be the second best sophomore team in Oklahoma.

Throughout the first half of the season Independence was a "first half" team. The Bulldogs led every game at the end of the half and then had a poor third quarter and were unable to overcome their opponents lead during the last quarter.

In the regional tournament, they were beaten by Chanute by only two points, and Chanute went on to win the tourney by defeating Coffeyville.

TRACK

Hampered by almost continuous rains during April, the Independence Bulldog track team at the time of publication was showing steady improvement.

Starting off the season with the annual inter-class meet the seniors, who as juniors last year won the event, were leading all the other classes by a large margin when rain prevented the completion of this event.

The Fredonia Relays were next on the list for the thinclads. There they met the best competition of the state and finished fifth. Bradbury set a new shot put record at this meet, tossing the iron 46 feet 2½ inches.

Coffeyville and Bartlesville provided the next competition for the sun-starved locals. They finished a strong second there.

At the time of the printing of this book the Bulldogs had just finished fourth at the large Coffeyville Invitational which was run off in the rain.

Remaining on the schedule are a dual meet with Coffeyville here and the combined S. E. K. and Regional meet at Pittsburg.

Coach Floyd Barngrover, who has ably piloted the track team, will assume the duties of the woodworking department and relinquish his coaching of the track and basketball teams at the close of this season.

GOLF

Six lettermen from last year's state champs formed the nucleus of Coach Forrest Smith's 1942 golf team. These boys were freshmen, sophomores, and seniors. Several promising men reported for practice.

The outstanding freshman was Robert Moss who was the winner of the school tournament. He was the only freshman to make the team. In the same tournament, Gene Wortman, a senior, was runner-up; and Carl Overfield and David Dennis were third and fourth in that order. Overfield and Dennis are both sophomores this year.

Many boys proved their interest in the sport by reporting to Mr. Smith for the first practice of the year. The golf team is composed of freshmen, sophomores, and seniors. There are no juniors on the team. Gene Wortman, Charles Moss, Rob Robley, Carl Wyckoff, and Roland Case are seniors and will be lost from this year's squad by graduation. Other members of the team are Robert Moss, a freshman; David Dennis, a sophomore; Donald Dancer, a sophomore; and Carl Overfield, also a sophomore.

The golfers have played in four meets up until the time the annual goes to press. In an invitational with Bartlesville, Chanute, Iola, Coffeyville, Caney, and Independence, the locals took the four-man team, two two-man teams tied with Coffeyville, and were third in individual low score. They lost a dual meet with Coffeyville, won in a three-way match with Iola and Caney, and also took a dual meet at Iola.

At the time when the Orange and Black goes to press the Regional and S. E. K. meets have not yet been held. However, these meets are to be combined and held at Pittsburg on Saturday, May 9.

Coach Smith deserves much praise for the fine showing made by the locals on the links during the season as he has worked many long hours to get the boys in shape for the matches and in preparing them for the regional tournament.

TENNIS

This year the Bulldog tennis team is one of the strongest in the state. The mainstays of the team are three of last year's lettermen, Edison Shive, Bill Chappuie, and Dick Gooldy. Nearly all of the rest of the team is made up of sophomores, who were on the junior high team last year. Of the entire ten men, only three are seniors: Shive, Chappuie, and Elliott.

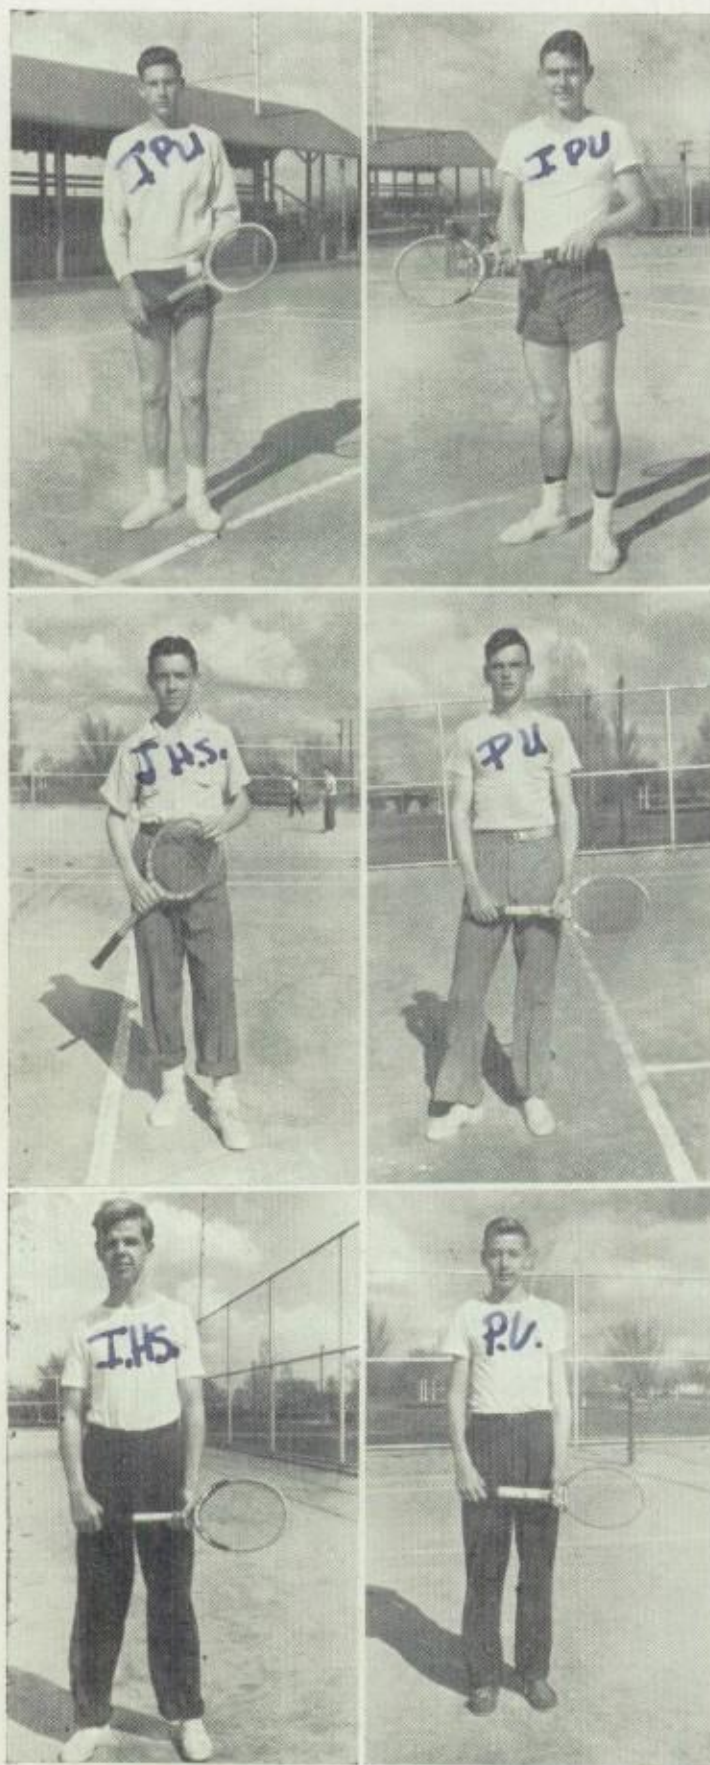

Although the schedule was cut down because of the war emergency, the team has made a fine showing in nearly all of the matches they have played.

In the invitational tournament at Independence at the first of the season, the Bulldogs claimed three of the four finalists. Shive defeated Gooldy in the singles, and the doubles team composed of Chappuie-Caskey was defeated in the double finals.

In a two-match trip to Kansas City, the team won every match from Paseo and dropped a close one to Wyandotte 4 to 3 on the following day. They were again defeated in a close match with Coffeyville a week later.

Although at this time the S. E. K. and Regional meets have not been played, the Bulldogs are expected to do well in both of these meets. The winner of the Regional and the runner-up are entitled to enter the state meet at Wichita on May 15 and 16.

This year the team is coached by Mr. Fred Cinotto, the new science teacher, who replaced Mr. Wilmont Toalson.

SENIOR G. A. A.

The Senior Girls' Athletic Association was organized for the purpose of giving girls the advantage of outdoor and indoor sports. This organization meets every other Wednesday in the girls' gym and programs are presented by the different girls at each meeting. The girls are presented with point sheets on which to keep a record of points earned in unorganized activities. With these points the girls win emblems which they work very hard to obtain.

Some of the activities in which the girls participate are as follows: bowling, swimming, basketball, roller skating, bicycling, and walking.

Parties are also planned by the girls during the year. The different committees are chosen by the president so that each girl may take part in something. A good time is always had by those who come. There are games, dancing, sports, and refreshments.

Miss Elva Hughes is the sponsor of this organization. The girls believe they couldn't have a nicer leader.

In order to make money for the club, the girls have cookies sales, and candy sales. They usually make enough money to buy emblems which the girls earn during the year.

Elections are held at the end of each year and the girls elect the officers for the following year. The officers for this year are as follows: president, Marcine Crowe; vice-president, Jacqueline Whistler; secretary, Virginia Bryan; treasurer, Virginia Hinman.

Activities of G. A. A. - - Defenbaugh, swimming - - Nees and Bryan, tennis - - Basketball - - Hendrickson, dancing
 Braden and Purinton, ping pong - - Volleyball.

ORANGE AND BLACK

The 1942 Orange and Black staff has tried to make this annual one that will live in the memories of the students of Independence high school. They have attempted to make it a record of the achievements of the school and its pupils.

From the earliest times men have tried to keep a record of their triumphs and defeats. At first, however, they had no easy time doing this. They had no paper, writing materials, or alphabet.

One of the earliest methods of recording an important event was to raise a huge heap of stones to commemorate it, but this was not satisfactory because persons who knew nothing of the event were unable to understand it by just looking at a pile of rocks.

Next man sculptured pictures on rocks. Then he chiseled letters on clay tablets. Finally a kind of paper made of reeds was invented, and at last the paper that the world knows today was discovered. The Phonicians introduced a simple alphabet which was elaborated by the Greeks and Romans until the alphabet of today was reached. Printing has grown from the use of wood blocks in the Orient to the intricate, skill-requiring art of today. Many men were responsible for its growth. Among them are Gutenberg, Jenson, and Caxton.

One hundred years ago this annual would have been an impossibility. Today it is an example of the skilled work of those in the printing profession.

As usual this year the staff is made up of the students from the journalism and printing departments. Miss Todd and Mr. Thurman have tried to place them in the staff positions for which they were best fitted. By recording the events as accurately as possible, this staff has tried to make the 1942 Orange and Black one both interesting and informative.

"Aviation" has been chosen by the staff as the theme of the 1942 Orange and Black. This has proved to be a well-chosen subject as nothing is in the public eye so much today as aviation. The staff has tried to make this issue of the Orange and Black one to be remembered both in theme and in its pictures and stories.

The help and guidance of Mr. L. E. Thurman, printing instructor, has been invaluable to the staff members. He should receive a great deal of the credit for the success of this year's Orange and Black.

Our editor-in-chief has spent much time and effort seeing that stories were assigned, written, and in on time. The three assistant editors have helped her in every way possible. A search for new and funnier jokes was conducted by the joke editors. They have tried to make the ones in this yearbook jokes that will really bring laughs. Miss DeLury, who collected most of the junior high snapshots, and Donald Scofield, who took many of the others, have assisted the kodak editors in trying to get pictures of as many students as possible. Linoleum blocks were carved by the ad department under the direction of Miss Frances Weeks. The sports editors have attempted to cover all the reports efficiently. With the cooperation of the local merchants the advertising staff has succeeded in obtaining plenty of advertising for the annual. The staff is composed of seniors who are taking journalism or printing. Miss Todd, journalism instructor, aided the editorial staff.

The 1942 Orange and Black staff is as follows: Clara Jane Hendrickson, editor-in-chief; Betty Tharp, Jules Funston, and Retha Krone Foster, assistant editors; Shirley Gaughan, Ben Berg, and Vernon Frisbie, joke editors; Christine Callahan, Lila Mary Schaub, Barbara Davis, and Zelda Mae Swearengen, kodak editors; Bill Chappuie, Bob Elliott, and Jim Raglin, sports editors; Bud Sands, Vernon Carpenter, Leo Ringle, Ted Dunton, and Charles Huff, advertising staff.

STUDENT STAFF

"To inform students, faculty, and alumni of our institution's many activities and achievements—to unify its many departments—to interpret our school and college to the community and the country is the purpose of "The Student."

"The Student" is the school paper published weekly by the students of journalism under the able supervision of Miss Lora Todd, journalism instructor.

The entire process of turning out "The Student" is accomplished in the school with no outside assistance. Mr. L. E. Thurman, print shop instructor, and his printing students print "The Student."

There are three divisions among the students editing the school paper. These consist of the editorial staff, advertising staff, and business staff. For the past several years, it has been the custom to change staffs every nine weeks so that each person may obtain experience in each of the three separate fields.

Christine Callahan was the sole business manager for the entire year, but her assistants were rotated.

Those who acted as editors-in-chief during the past year are Retha Krone, Shirley Gaughan, Betty Tharp, and Jules Funston.

The students who headed the advertising staff for nine weeks each are Jean Braden, Lila Schaub, Barbara Davis, and Bud Sands.

TOP ROW: Ben Berg, Bill Bonde, Jean Braden, Christine Callahan.

SECOND ROW: Vernon Carpenter, Bill Chappuie, Barbara Davis, Ted Dunton.

THIRD ROW: Bob Elliott, Vernon Frisbie, Jules Funston, Shirley Gaughan.

FOURTH ROW: Harold Grant, Clara Jane Hendrickson, Marietta Jones, Retha Foster.

FIFTH ROW: Jim Raglin, Diane Revelette, Coleen Ringle, Bud Sands.

SEVENTH ROW: Calvin Rodgers, Miss Todd.

"The Student" is made up of several different types of material. There are news stories, editorials on a great variety of subjects, features, columns, fillers, and ads.

The feature columns this year contained several new ideas. In a series of "Know Your School" features, pictures were taken of the various departments in school and their work was explained. Another type of feature was the "Personality Review" in which outstanding students were put in the spotlight.

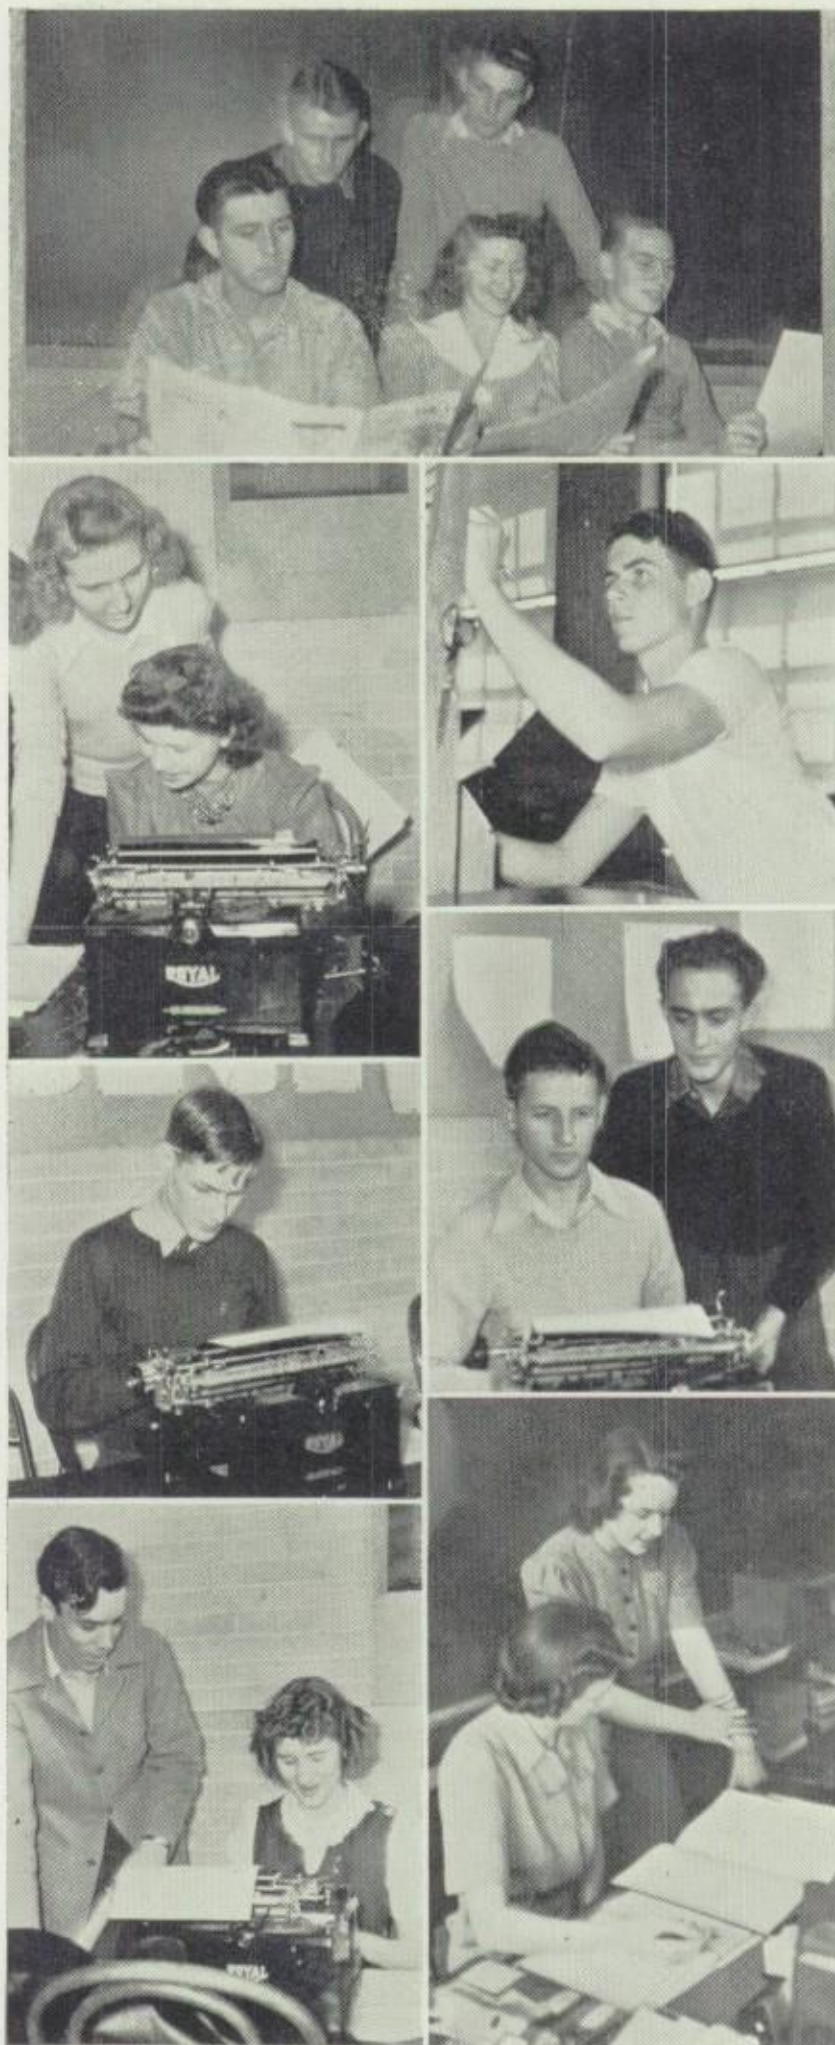

The column included the "Spectator," changed later to the "As We See It," the "Inquiring Reporter," the "Sports Shorts," and the "Classified Ads."

The Independence merchants by their advertising, play a very important part in keeping "The Independence Student" rolling off the press. The ad staff solicits, makes up and collects for these ads.

Every year, a state journalism conference is held at Lawrence, and this year, there were fourteen who attended. Those who went on this trip included Betty Tharp, Jean Braden, Lila Schaub, Christine Callahan, Zelda Mae Swearingen, Diane Revelette, Shirley Gaughan, Jim Raglin, Ted Dunton, Leo Ringle, Fred Crane, Pete Carpenter, Dean Stephenson, and Bill Bonde. These students attended several lectures on student journalism and stayed to attend the K. U.-Iowa State football game. Miss Todd accompanied them.

"The Student" observes each unusual event during the year by special page make-up, features, or an editorial dedicated to the subject. An unusual "April Fool" edition was put out and on Christmas, Thanksgiving and Hallowe'en special cuts were put on the front page.

There were twenty-six students who took journalism for the entire year 1941-1942. Those who took the subject are pictured above. They include Ben Berg, Bill Bonde, Jean Braden, Christine Callahan, Vernon Carpenter, Bill Chappuie, Fred Crane, Barbara Davis, Ted Dunton, Bob Elliott, Vernon Frisbie, Jules Funston, Shirley Gaughan, Harold Grant, Clara Jane Hendrickson, Marietta Jones, Retha Krone, Jim Raglin, Diane Revelette, Coleen Ringle, Calvin Rodgers, Buddy Sands, Lila Mary Schaub, Dean Stephenson, Zelda Mae Swearingen, and Betty Tharp.

PERCUSSION—Charles Aldrich, Philip Persky, Joe Turner.

Under the direction of Jay Andrews the senior high and junior college orchestra has held a prominent place in the school activities this year.

The orchestra took part in the annual Christmas concert with the glee club and band. This year it played at the junior college play, "You Can't Take It With You;" the high school play, "One Mad Night"; and at the senior play. For the third consecutive year the orchestra played the accompaniment for "The Holy City" on Palm Sunday. It also appeared at the baccalaureate sermon.

For the first time the junior high and senior high have had separate orchestras. This has provided two orchestras ready to play on any occasion and also has made it possible for the members of each organization to receive more individual instruction.

In his first year as director of the orchestra, Mr. Andrews has succeeded in developing the organization both in size and in quality. A great deal of credit should also be given to Alexander Baird, who has capably assisted Mr. Andrews. Mr. Baird holds a position which is important in any high school orchestra, that of instructor of stringed instruments.

Several college students and a number of the members of the band have played in the orchestra this year. Also some of the members of the orchestra have played in the concert band.

The Independence senior high school and junior college band has completed an active, successful, and enjoyable year.

Guided by Director Jay Andrews, who took the controls this year after Maurice Callahan entered the United States Army, the band presented a program at the annual Christmas concert in conjunction with the high school and college choruses and orchestra. It furnished music and stimulated pep at football and basketball games, took part in a program sponsored by the physical education departments, assisted with the pageant, "Americana," and played a concert preceding the Commencement exercises, in addition to taking several out-of-town trips and exchanging several performances with Coffeyville and Parsons in the Santa Claus parades. In June, 1941, the band represented the local Lions' club in a parade at Wichita which opened the state wide Lions' convention there. The Independence organization was the official band of the parade and was first in the line-of-march.

A new policy was adopted this year in which no junior high players were allowed to play in the senior high band and the class practice time was divided with the orchestra. This system will greatly benefit both the junior high and senior high bands.

Four sousaphones, four tromboniums, four French horns, and one euphonium were added to the equipment of the band this year. A total of eighteen new instruments have been obtained in the last two years, and the instrumentation has been greatly improved.

Mr. Adolph F. Borberg served capably as assistant director and instructor this year.

GIRLS' DRUM CORPS

The 1941-1942 marching season of the Senior Drum and Bugle Corps has proven to be a triumphant one. This organization, composed of both senior high and junior college students, made its initial appearance at the annual Fall Opening and gave a marching demonstration the same evening between halves of the first football game of the season. The Corps performed at football games when the weather permitted, joining in a mass demonstration with the pep clubs and the band for the Thanksgiving homecoming game with Coffeyville high school. The Corps also participated in the marching exhibition at the Coffeyville Junior college game. The Corps went to Caney, where they marched in the Armistice parade, afterwards attending a dance at the Caney high school gym for persons in uniform. In addition, the Corps appeared in Christmas parades at Independence, Coffeyville, and Parsons. Perhaps the most impressive show given by the Drum Corps was during the half of the Independence-Iola basketball game. This was made up of an intricate drill that received much applause. On March 19, the Corps appeared in the Spring Opening Welcome Parade.

The social event of the year was March 29, when the Corps enjoyed dinner at the home of Commander Aileen Furnas. Following the dinner, the members and their escorts went to the gym for dancing.

The officers for the year are Aileen Furnas, Commander; Martha Mae Perry, vice-cimmander; Annice Clayton, sergeant-at-arms; Betty Tharp, secretary-treasurer. The Senior Drum and Bugle Corps is sponsored by Miss Mary Self, and directed by Mr. Jay Andrews, who have given their time, interest, and effort to the Corps in order that it might be an organization of which Independence justly can be proud.

GLEE CLUBS

The Girls' Glee club offers many opportunities in the field of vocal music for its 137 members. The girls have performed in many school and civic programs.

The officers for 1942 are Jean Braden, president; Annette Etter, vice-president; Eleanor Bullock, secretary-treasurer; Barbara Davis, reporter; and Jeanne Hibbens, social chairman.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

DEBATE

Coach Paul Tatum was confronted with the task of rebuilding his debate teams, because of the loss of the first three teams through graduation. Included in this loss were the champion debaters Shanahan, Persky, Rains, and Dunn, who had won 60 out of 65 debates. Nevertheless the Bulldog debaters of this season made an excellent showing in every tournament, and won 56 out of 70 contests.

DRAMATICS CLUB OFFICERS

Bill Campbell, president; Patsy Nees, vice-president; Wilma Whitlow, secretary; Bernadette Roberts, treasurer; Dorothy Melton, program chairman; Eldon Scott, program chairman; Miss Anna Ingleman, sponsor.

DRAMATICS CLUB

This is the twentieth active year for the Dramatics club. The club was first originated in 1922 by Miss Anna Ingleman's English classes and was called the Dee Dee club. "Bobby Takes a Look" was the first play to be presented by this club.

Requirements for membership include various public appearances, a menial task, and an original play or a stage version of a famous short story. There are 8 official members in the club this year, and 74 others who are not official members. Anyone who is in senior high school may belong to the club but only those who pass all requirements may be official members. Only official members can be officers in the club.

The club tries to produce three plays—the college play, the high school play, and the senior play—each year. "You Can't Take It With You" was the college play and "One Mad Night" was the high school play. "You Can't Take It With You" was presented one night. "One Mad Night" was presented at a matinee and an evening performance.

Meetings are held each week. The club members work on plays and readings and they are always ready and willing to present them when asked. The members appear on assembly programs, club programs, at rural schools, and before civic groups.

Some of the short plays that have been presented this year are "A Man's Castle,"

"Be Home By Midnight," "Never Trust A man," "Eether or Eyether," "Romance Is a Racket," "Elmer's Big Date," "Those Christmas Gifts," "Elmer Cleans Up," "Dress Reversal," and "Pop Reads the Christmas Carol," which was the annual Christmas Play.

In the past years the dramatics club has entered the dramatics contest at Lawrence, Chanute, and Pittsburg. The entrants have always ranked among the best and have always brought home more than their share of the honors. Entries are usually made in dramatic reading, oration, declamation, extemporaneous speaking, interpretive reading, and drama. But this year, due to war conditions, the Dramatics club did not go to any contest.

The officers for this year are Bill Campbell, president; Patsy Nees, vice-president; Wilma Whitlow, secretary; Bernadette Roberts, treasurer; Dorothy Melton and Eldon Scott, program chairmen; and Clara Jane Hendickson, reporter.

The motto of the Dramatics club could be said to be "No matter what may happen, or how tired or hungry you may be, the show must go on," and so it does.

Miss Anna Ingleman, who is the sponsor of the club, spends not only club and class time but also many long hours outside of school time conducting rehearsals. The ultimate success of any production is due to Miss Ingleman's efficient direction.

COLLEGE PLAY

The story of "You Can't Take It With You," centers around a family who believes in gaining wealth, not in terms of money, but in fulfillment of life—thus creating a free and easy way of life. Complications arise when the young daughter wishes to marry into a very wealthy, socialite family. It is then that she becomes torn between loyalty for her family and desire for them to become a little more sensible and correct. Between the exploding of fire works and temperaments, these problems are worked out. Mr. Glenn L. Kready assisted Miss Ingleman in the direction of the play.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

Under the direction of Miss Anna Inglesman, the high school dramatics department presented the second play of the year entitled "One Mad Night." Except for R. J. Osborn, who is a college student, the cast was made up of high school students.

"One Mad Night" takes place in the Cutter mansion in New York. Don Cutter, a play-wright, accompanied by Wing, his proverb-quoting Chinese valet, goes to the Cutter mansion, a lonely house in the hills, to complete his latest play in peace and quiet. The house has been deserted for years, a series of mysterious murders having given it the reputation of being haunted. Imagine Don's astonishment when he finds the house tenanted by a number of very strange people. They are lunatics, under the care of Dr. Bunn, whose nearby home has burned. They are really quite harmless, but Don doesn't know this. Among the inmates is Lucille, a beautiful girl, who is actually sane.

Like a true Lockinvar, Don is just about to ride to her rescue when his fiancée and her mother put in an appearance with their maid, Depression. From this point, everything happens, including talking ghosts, screaming women, disappearing guests, and the appearance on the scene of a supposed murderer fleeing for his life. Don succeeds in rescuing the lovely Lucille from a sinister fate only after a series of thrillingly funny escapades.

In giving service to the school and community this year, the Senior Girl Reserves have functioned very prominently. About one hundred girls participated in the activities of the club, each girl belonging to one of the ten committees.

The club held its meetings every two week, having various programs—musical, devotional, talks—to provide for the entertainment. The ten committees met once each month to take care of their various duties.

Much was accomplished this year. The club gave baskets to families at Thanksgiving time. Easter baskets were given to the less fortunate children at Easter. A Christmas party was given also for the children.

The Nees hall Christmas decorations were put up by the Girl Reserves members. Scrap books were made to be sent to the hospital.

The club sent one girl to Camp Nekahaha near Joplin. It also sent eleven girls to Emporia for the Girl Reserves conference.

The girls carried out the old custom of having a Mother-Daughter banquet, which always is an outstanding event during the year.

The social activities were enjoyed by all. The Hi-Y and Girl Reserves entertained each other with parties. The get-acquainted party and heart sister week were successfully carried out again.

The club sponsors are Miss Morrison and Miss Coldwell. The officers were Helen Wright, president; Jeanne Hibbens, vice-president; Jean Walters, secretary; Martha Spellman, treasurer; Dorothy Melton, program chairman; Retha Kone, finance chairman; Grace Irma Coldwell, service chairman; Barbara Davis, conference chairman; Norma Arnold, publicity chairman; Ruth Jean Benefiel, music chairman; Georgia Mae Montgomery, devotions chairman; Jeanne Hibbens, membership chairman; and Barbara Defenbaugh, social chairman.

S E N I O R H I - Y

"To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character" is the purpose of the Senior Hi-Y club, one of the high school's most active organizations. The membership of the club consists of over forty boys who meet weekly with Mr. Babcock, a leader who has shown much patience and resourcefulness in his duties as sponsor. It is under his leadership that the club has become affiliated with the national organization for the first time.

The regular weekly meetings of the club are planned so as to help the members live up to the high ideals outlined in the purpose of the Hi-Y. Meetings feature much variety. They are generally started with devotionals, followed by a speaker, business discussions, or some other form of intra-club activity. Many interesting speakers visited the club this year and all were greatly appreciated.

The Hi-Y club also engages in many activities aside from the regular meetings. This year to raise money the club ran a concession stand at football games, sold pencils with the basketball schedule printed on them, and ran the Hi-Y book exchange at the beginning of each semester. Proceeds from these sales bought several Christmas baskets for needy families, bought one of the new pennants for the gymnasium, and helped send some members of the club to Camp Wood and to the Hi-Y conference at Cedarvale.

Social activities have not been neglected either. The annual mixer was held in the fall and for the first time the Hi-Y had a dance with the members of the Girl Reserves as guests. This dance followed a scavenger hunt given for the Hi-Y boys by the Girl Reserves.

Officers for the year just concluded are Edison Shive, president; Jack Barnes, vice-president; Bud Kors, secretary; Jim Sloop, treasurer; Ted Dunton and Wendell Elliott, program chairmen; Bill Halsey, service chairman; George Peterson, Bible chairman, and Bud Sands, publicity chairman.

SCIENCE

The Science club, one of the few educational clubs in the school, has been an active organization for the past eight years. It was organized in 1934 and named the Medical Interest club. At that time and until 1937 it was sponsored by Mr. E. J. Castillo. The name was soon changed to the General Science club because the members wished to belong to the national organization of the same name. The club was given a room in Nees hall in which they started the first school museum.

In 1937 Mr. Parley W. Dennis took over the club and has ably sponsored it ever since. The same year the club was able to secure a room in the junior high building for the museum. When they secured the services of Mr. Elmer Banion and Prof. Alexander Baird and with their help, the club re-classified all of the specimens. The same year they joined the Kansas Junior Academy of Science, and have been a member ever since.

For the last few years, the museum has been greatly increased through donations and field trips taken by the club.

In 1937 Mr. Banion gave the club a fine Indian relic collection and in 1940 Mr. John Bertenshaw gave them a splendid collection of sea shells and corals.

This year the club has been more successful that it has in years past since a new system for the preparation of programs has been inaugurated. Each member was responsible for one program during the year instead of having one program committee to get all of them. For one program, the group visited Dr. Clark's office and he demonstrated the flouroscope and the X-ray. Other guest speakers included Dr. Choguill who spoke about the new sulfa drugs; Monta Fay Archer, who spoke about her short wave radio; Mr. Stockebrand, who spoke about his trip last summer, and also some of the members of the club.

The officers this year are Bill Chappuie, president; Robert Meyer, vice president; Ida Lefever, secretary; Alfred Baden, treasurer; and Coleen Ringle and Burnadette Roberts, program co-chairmen.

HOME CHAMPIONS CLUB

Composed of the girls enrolled in the vocational homemaking, the Home Economics club, better known as the Home Champions club, was organized this year.

The purpose of the club is to supplement the program and activities that are introduced in the classroom. Meetings are held twice each month in the girls' gym.

Various types of programs are held. The most outstanding program of the club this year was the Christmas program given for the girls and their mothers and the faculty. Other sources of meetings are training in parliamentary drill, practice in public speaking, and fellowship and good times for all. At each meeting group singing and games are enjoyed by all.

"Better Homes, Better Meals, Better Citizens" is the motto of the Home Champions club. Blue and white are the club colors and the club flower is the rose.

Miss Maxine McKenzie, sponsor of the club organized the Home Economics club early this fall. This is the first year there has been a homemaking club in this school. Outside activities include serving banquets and dinners for various organizations. This spring the club served the annual Letterman's banquet in the school cafeteria. During the year the club has enjoyed several parties held in the girls' gym. A kid party was the biggest social event for the club. Big hair ribbons and short dresses were again put on to remember the school days of not so long ago.

Barbara Davis has served as the first president of the club. Other officers are Georgianne Jenkins, vice-president; Catherine Jones, secretary; Eleanor Bullock, treasurer; Lila Mary Schaub, program chairman; Jeanne Frasier, song leader; Virginia Simmons, pianist; and Gwen Grant, games chairman.

Each girl serves on a committee. The committees and chairmen are Lena Mae Smith, family; Dorothy Swank, Red Cross; Frances Lang, medicine; Gwen Grant, project; and Jackie Tole, welfare worker.

JUNIOR HIGH

EARL R. BEVAN, PRINCIPAL

JUNIOR HIGH AND IT'S ACTIVITIES

Incorporated in the Independence school system and housed in the same building with the senior high school, is the local junior high school. This unit of the school provides a connecting link between the grades and senior high and allows for the development of the adolescent. Mr. Earl Bevan is the principal of the junior high school.

The studies and activities of the junior high include those which lay the foundation for the necessary educational and social development of the student. The subjects are designed to widen the outlook of the student and to give him the fundamentals for his later training. The student receives guidance and instruction as to the part he does play, and the larger part that he will eventually play, in a changing world.

The social and extra-curricular activities of the junior high are designed to make school life even more pleasant and to function as a training ground for his later social life. Through it the boys and girls are brought together in surroundings harmonious to their interests.

The junior high, therefore, provides an opportunity to furnish boys and girls with the equipment they will need to carry on the daily activities of their increasingly complex lives.

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES

The need for a religious organization for the junior high girls was filled when Miss Grace Crocker and Miss Herpalice Gray organized the junior Girl Reserves in 1923. After a few years because of its popularity the membership became so large that it was necessary to divide the organization into two groups, the Blue Star Girl Reserves and the Blue Triangle Girl Reserves. Now after nineteen years they are among the most popular clubs of the junior high. The purpose of the organization is to teach the girls to be—

Gracious in manner
Impartial in judgment
Ready for service
Loyal to friends
Reaching toward the best
Earnest in purpose
Seeing the beautiful
Eager for knowledge
Reverent to God
Victorious over self
Ever dependable
Sincere all the time

Around Thanksgiving and Christmas time every year food is collected by the girls and baskets are given to the needy.

One of the main events of the year is the Mother-Daughter banquet held in the spring.

Each group holds its meetings once every two weeks, but on several occasions joint meetings have been held. An interesting and educational program is provided for each meeting.

Much of the success of the organization is due to the efforts of Miss Helen Lane and Miss Ethel Wahl, sponsors of the Blue Star Girl Reserves; and to the sponsors of the Blue Triangle Girl Reserves, Miss Bernice McNiel and Miss Grace Crocker.

The officers of the Blue Star this year have been Colleen Clayton, president; Shirley Remaley, vice-president; Clarice Thomas, secretary; Nancy Belcher, treasurer; and Virginia Ray, song leader. The officers of the Blue Triangle have been Patsy Harris, president; Jane Louise Glaettli, vice-president; Mary Jane Callahan, secretary; Mary Belle Farlow, treasurer, and Shirley Crane, song leader. The activities of both groups are conducted with the help of the service, program and devotion committees.

JUNIOR HI-Y

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character," is the purpose of the junior Hi-Y. This club is composed of approximately 40 junior high school boys. The ideals and purpose of the club are similar to those of the senior Hi-Y. This is important in making its members become active and efficient in the senior organization. The club has as its principles the four C's: clean athletics, clean living, clean scholarship, and clean speech.

Each year the old members elect a number of new members into the club. These boys are chosen because of their personal merits, including personality, willingness, and religious outlook.

The club was founded in 1927 by Mr. L. O. Heckethorn. Mr. Heckethorn remained sponsor of the club until 1937 when Mr. Campbell took over the sponsorship. In 1939 Mr. Heckethorn resumed sponsorship of the club. This year Mr. Clark has taken the leadership duties of the organization.

Many of the weekly programs are of a character building nature. These include devotions and talks given by the boys and by outside speakers. However, not all the meetings are serious. As some games are played and humorous contests are held.

Among their activities this year the members participated in a scrap metal drive. The club had a party in the gym, and a picnic was held just before school closed.

The officers for the year were Bob Montgomery, president; Allen Brown, vice president; Neal Post, secretary; and Cleo Pruitt, treasurer.

The club also has several committees headed by members. Bill Spellman was service chairman. The Bible study chairman was Gene Brittain. This year's world brotherhood chairman was Jack Evans, and Neil Burris was program chairman. They have helped the club progress by their efforts and hard work.

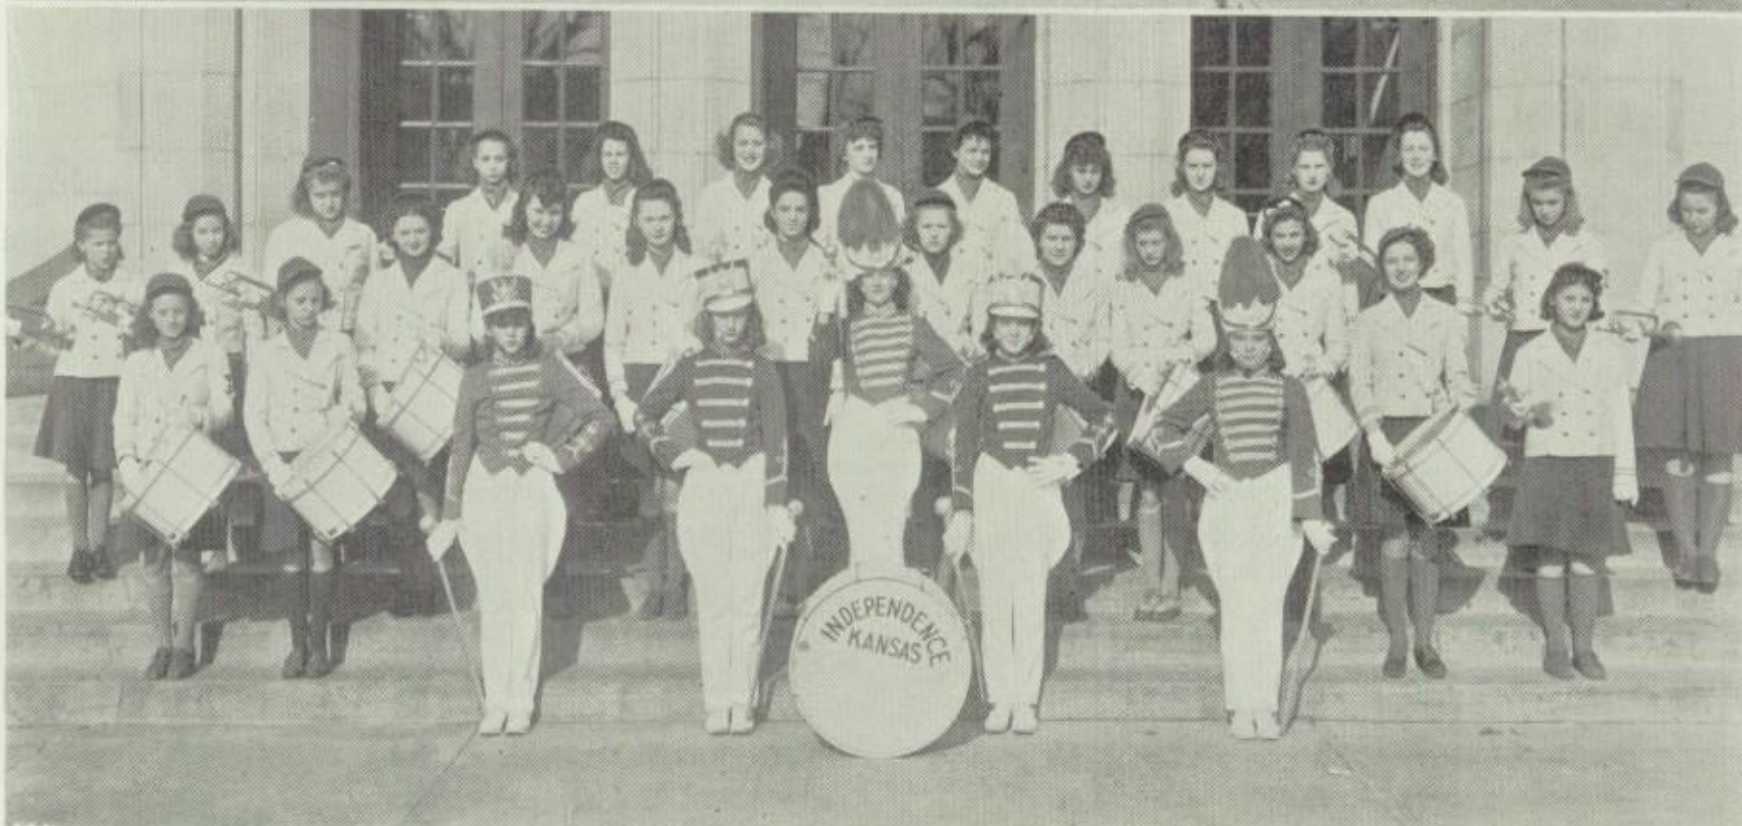

This has been Mr. Clark's first year as sponsor of the organization. With the cooperation of the officers and other members he has succeeded in making this year a successful one for the club.

JUNIOR DRUM CORPS AND G.A.A.

The Junior High Drum and Bugle corps has successfully completed its fourth year. Outfitted in uniforms of soldier blue corduroy caps and skirts, matching blue knee-length hose, and white flannel jackets, the corps has made smart appearances at football games, at the halves of the basketball games, at the Armistice parade, and the spring and fall openings. The group also went to Neodesha to participate in the annual Christmas parade.

Any girl in the junior high school who will buy her own uniform and instrument is eligible to try out for the corps.

Coleen Clayton is the drum major; Mary Ellen Dunton, Nancy Belcher, Myril

Ann Culp, and Drusilla Fowler are the twirling majors.

The officers are Ruth Ann Clark, commander; Nancy Belcher, vice-commander; Darlene Dyer, secretary; Jane Clark, treasurer; and Shiley Crane reporter. The director of the corps is Mr. Borberg, and the organization is under the able sponsorship of Miss Helen Lane.

The junior Girls' Athletic Association which has been well organized in previous years has been fortunate in having Miss Maxine Gibbs as the sponsor during the past year.

The G. A. A. teams for practice and tournament games were divided equally among 14 members of the Leadership club that was composed of seven teams. Thus each team had two captains and 22 members.

The teams took part in a number of activities. They were tenniquoits, volleyball, table tennis, basketball, tennis, baseball, and swimming. Most of the girls took part individually in the unorganized activities such as shuffle board, horseback riding, bicycling, bowling, skating, walking, golf, and hiking.

After each activity this year, a party has been held. A skating party for all girls in the organization was held after the tenniquoits season. After volleyball the girls who had participated in the activity had a party to which boys were invited. The evening was spent in games and dancing. A picnic was planned for the girls who played basketball. A banquet will be held after the baseball season is over. At this banquet the awards will be given to the girls. The parents will be invited to attend.

The officers for this year are Annelle Cochrane, president; Peggy Jane Hunt, vice-president; Colleen Clayton, secretary; Mary Belle Farlow, treasurer; Lena Mae Smith, sports manager; Dorothea Shukers, pianist; and Shirley Jo Dean and Joan Dancer, song leaders.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

The 1941-1942 edition of the Independence junior high school Indians basketball team was not as successful this season as its immediate predecessors who won the championship in 1940-1941. However the boys still managed to win a good share of the games played. From the last year's title winning team only one letterman and a few squadmen returned. Faced with the tough proposition of rebuilding a completely new team from inexperienced rookies, Coach Joe Wallace started to work. Early in the season the results were discouraging but as the season progressed and the new boys gained in experience, things began to look better for I. J. H. S.

The opening games of the season found Independence coming out on the short end of the score but once the Indians tasted victory they were hard to stop. Evidence of this fact can be found in the example of how Humboldt defeated the junior high cagers in the first contest between the schools 18 to 14 but in the return engagement the locals won 30 to 19. This was the case in a number of games.

The returning letterman Robert Moss was ably assisted by Edward Todd, James Carpenter, Gerald Turner, Neal Post, Don Tricks and Robert Montgomery, all of whom lettered this year. These boys were the mainstays in the locals' defeat of Neodesha in two non-league games and should prove valuable to the senior high basketball squad in the following years.

JUNIOR HIGH PEP CLUB

The junior high school Pep club consists of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students. Membership is open to all students making passing grades.

The club uniforms are Indian sweaters, red skirts, white shirts, red and blue anklets, red and blue hair ribbons, for the girls. The boys wear Indian sweaters, white shirts and dark trousers.

A constitution was made by the Pep club and each member was given a copy.

The club participated in the Thanksgiving formation at the football game at Shulthis stadium.

An initiation party was held in the new gymnasium, December 1. One hundred students were invited, sixty-five of whom were new members. The new members were blindfolded and led through low tunnels and narrow passages. They climbed steep steps, ate queer things and performed other feats common for initiation. After the blindfolds were removed games were played. Later, refreshments were served. Miss McKenzie, Miss Hughes, Miss Gibbs, Mr. Bevan, and Mr. Allen assisted as chaperons.

The group took part in the Christmas parade, it being the first time the cheerleaders appeared in uniform.

The Pep club sold lapel pennants for a money making project. The pennants were red with the word "Indians" in blue. They were sold for 10 cents each.

The club was invited to attend a senior high school basketball game to help the senior high Pep club boost morale. They contributed much to the success of the evening.

On April 17, a banquet was given at the Presbyterian church by the Pep club to all the junior high basketball boys, Coach Wallace and other members of the faculty. After the dinner a dance was held in

The cheerleaders, elected in junior as the high school gymnasium.

sembly, were Peggy Jane Hunt, Shirley Crane, Joe Bob Spangler, and Billy Jack Miller.

The officers were president, Mary Belle Farlow; vice-president, Joe Bob Spangler; secretary, Joan Dancer; treasurer, Cecilia Bredehoft; news reporter, Jo Ann Jacobs; sergeant at arms, Stanley Lewis.

The sponsors were Miss Maxine Gibbs and Mr. E. R. Bevan.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA

The junior high orchestra is composed of the different instruments of the string, woodwind, brass, and percussion sections. The string section is made up of the violins, cellos, violas and bass viols; the brass section is composed of the cornets, trumpets, a trombone, and French horns; the woodwind section is made up of the clarinets, flutes, and a bassoon; and the percussion section consists of the drums and a piano.

The junior high orchestra is a small organization of about thirty-five persons. In spite of the fact that all of its members are in junior high school, this orchestra is capable of playing some difficult numbers. Some of the selections which may be heard at any of the concerts presented by the orchestra are "Petite Bourree," "Romanian Fantasy," "Atilla," and "Cavalier Overture." The students are also working to improve their playing of the "Hungarian Dance," "Cossack Revels," "Spanish Dances," "Aida-March," and "O Belle Nuit."

The orchestra meets on Tuesday and Friday of each week. The first few minutes of each hour are used in taking the roll and tuning the instruments. Then the rest of the hour is spent in good hard practicing.

Although the orchestra is doing very well this year the director, Mr. Borberg, believes that it will be much better next year because all but a few persons who are in the ninth grade will still remain in the orchestra.

For the first time, this year the junior high orchestra was separated from the senior high orchestra. The students who will be in the tenth grade next year will automatically become members of the senior high group.

JUNIOR HIGH BAND

JUNIOR BAND

The school is proud this season to present a junior high band. Last season the band was composed of junior and senior high members, but since its reorganization it is made up entirely of junior high students.

To be a member one must have sufficient training to meet the requirements considered necessary by the director. He must be able to read music.

Last year the school bought fifteen new instruments. This has greatly helped the organization.

This band is composed of eighty students, twice as many as in previous years. The group is under the competent direction of Mr. Borberg, a new instructor who is well liked.

The black and white uniformed band has participated in four parades, played for several football games and basketball games, and has played for several junior high school assemblies.

They have been working on marches for athletic events and also on concert pieces. They have two favorite marches, "Activity" and "Legioniers on Parade."

This is the first time the junior high band has had the privilege of having its picture shown in the annual. The group is striving for the same standard of performance as in the senior high band, and they are endeavoring to give to Independence a junior high band of which it may be proud.

Mr. Cinotto—Some acids bring about almost certain death. I will now take carbolic acid for example.

Dean Stephenson — (waking up) — Whoopee!

Georgia Mae Montgomery—Who was the smallest man in history?

Norma Arnold—The Roman soldier who went to sleep on his watch.

Drusilla Fowler was eating and found a hair in her fish. "Mother," she said sweetly, "what kind of fish is this?"

"Halibut, my dear."

"Oh," replied Drusilla, "I thought perhaps it was a mermaid."

Jules Funston had owed Jim Raglin a dollar for a long time.

"Look," said Jim, "you've owed me this buck for a long time."

"I'll meet you half way." I'm ready to forget half what you owe."

"Fine," replied Jules, "I'll meet you. I'll forget the other half."

Mary—The hotel clerk was so flattering.

Ann—Why?

Mary—Think of it—he wrote suite 16 after my name on the register.

Rob Robley—I'm taking lessons from a memory teacher.

Charles Moss—You ought to. The last time we played golf you forgot about twenty strokes that you took.

Mr. Smith—What's the shape of the earth?

Florene Deboe—Round.

Mr. Smith—How do you know it's round?

Florene—All right then, it's square. I don't want to start any argument about it.

Jack Newkirk—Would you love me if I gave up my bad habits.

Lila Murphey—But Jack, how could you expect me to love a perfect stranger?

A new nurse kept this chart of her patient's health:

8 a. m.—The patient's life in low degree.

10 a. m.—Life in sink.

11 a. m.—Flit.

1 p. m.—Flut.

Clara Jane Hendrickson — A dancer spun 'round on her toe thirty-eight times — of all the useless stunts!

Dolores Mason—Oh I don't know! It would come in handy if she ever had to get the dinner in a kitchenette

"Did you get your money," asked the dentist's wife.

"Not a cent" growled the dentist. "And worse than that, he insulted me and gnashed my teeth at me."

Thelma Likes had just obtained a job in an office. "You told me to file these papers, sir," she said.

"Yes," said the employer.

"Well, I was just thinkin' that it'd be easier to trim 'em with a pair of scissors."

Salesman—Did you like that cigar I gave you? For five hundred coupons of that brand you can get a banjo.

Junior Russell—If I smoked five hundred of those cigars, I'd need a harp.

Mrs. Davis—Floyd, where did you get that black eye?

Floyd—Johnny hit me.

Mrs. Davis—I hope you remember what you Sunday school teacher said about heaping coals on the head of your enemies.

Floyd—I didn't have any coal so I stuck his head in a barrel of ashes.

Once I was a freshie,

By Seniors, I was bossed;

I wandered through the spacious halls

Bewildered, worried, lost.

Now I'm a senior,

And my presence is so dear

That the teachers have invited me

To stay another year—

---

Floyd—Three men went to the show, but only two paid. Why?

Fred McCracken—I don't know, why?

Floyd McCracken—Because the other man was Crime—and Crime doesn't pay.

Raymond Elliott—I was in a phone booth talking to my girl when another guy came along and we had to get out.

---

Mr. Cinotto—What is the formula for water?

Christine Callahan—H I J K L M N O.

Mr. Cinotto—What do you mean?

Christine—Why, you said it was H to O.

---

Little Audrey was trying to bake a cake one day and fell into the oven. The door slammed shut behind her. But Little Audrey's mother just laughed and laughed because she knew Audrey couldn't cook.

Beryl Adams—Did you know that you couldn't write to Washington?

Jim Sherman—No, why?

Beryl—He's dead. But you can write to Lincoln.

Jim—You can?

Beryl—Yes, he left his Gettysburg address.

Chas. Moss—Hey waiter, there's a button in my stew!

Waiter—Must be a typographical error, sir. Says "mutton" on the menu.

Starkle, starkle, little twink,

What the heck you are you think?

Up above the high so sky,

Like a flashlight—huh?

---

Peter Ochs—So you won't kiss and make up.

Mary Schreck—Well, I won't make up.

---

Willie—Please, teacher, what did I learn today?

Teacher—What an unusual question!

Willie—Well, they will ask me when I get home.

Mrs. Anderson—Nobody ever heard of a sentence without a predicate.

---

Mr. Elliott—Did you have the car out last night, son?

Bob Elliott—Yes, I took some of the boys out for a run.

Mr. Elliott—Well, tell the boys that I found one of their little lace handkerchiefs.

---

"Madam," he said, "will you please get off my feet?"

"Why don't you keep your feet where they belong?"

"Don't tempt me," he answered.

A boxer was sitting at home with a bruised head after beng badly beaten, while his son was doing his homework.

"Tommy," said his wife, don't count up to ten any more, it makes daddy's head ache."

The top sergeant sang out before the company was dismissed: "All of those found of music step two paces forward."

With visions of a soft job in the regimental band, half a dozen men stepped forward.

The sergeant growled: "Now, then, you six mugs get busy and carry that piano up to the top floor of the officers quarters."

Gob: "Why this bottle of suntan lotion on the breakfast table?"

Bride: "I used it on the toast to keep it from burning."

Hotel Page—"Telegram for Mr. Neidspondiavance, Mr. Neidspondiavance."

Mr. Neidspondiavance—"What initial, please?"

The defendant had pled guilty but the jury acquitted him just the same.

"What," roared the judge on hearing the verdict, "after he had confessed!"

"We took that into account," replied the foreman, "but every member of this jury knows what a liar he is."

An eminent psychiatrist was showing a party of friends through his institution. To one patient he said: "Why do you continually insist on scratching yourself?"

"Because," replied the patient, "I'm the only person in the world who knows where I'm itching."

Jules Funston—What are prices of the seats, Professor?

Professor—Front seats, one dollar; back seats, fifty cents; programs, a nickel.

Jules—My girl and I will sit on a couple of programs.

SENIOR'S PRAYER

Jack Barnes—Tonight I will steal beneath your window and whisper a sweet serenade.

Alta Mae—Do, and I will drop you a flower.

Jack—Ah, in a moment of mad love?

Alta Mae—No, in a pot.

"Hurrah! Hurrah!" a woman shouted on the street. "My garters are coming down. That means I'm getting thin. O happy day!"

First hobo (watching holiday crowds) —"I hates holidays."

Second hobo—"Same here. Makes yer feel common when nobody ain't workin'."

Small Betty—"Did you know there was a burglar in our house last night?"

Teacher—"Goodness me, no! And what did your father do under the circumstances?"

Betty—"Oh, he wasn't under the circumstances. He was under the bed."

Salesman—"Boy, I'd like to see someone here with a little authority."

Charles Aldrich—"Well, I have about as little as anyone you'll find. What can I do for you?"

1905—Look, look! There's an auto.

1920—Look, look! There's a horse.

1930—Look, look! There's a pedestrian.

1945—Look, look! There's an auto.

Raymond Ross—Oh, you've been hunting. Kill anything?

Mike Reddy—No, wish I'd gone motor-ing now.

---

Teacher—Jack, what is ignorance?

Jack Spangler—It's when you don't know something and somebody finds it out.

---

Margaret Smith — How's your in-somnia?

Marjorie Bright—It gets worse and worse. I can't even sleep when its time to get up.

---

Mrs. Stephenson—Why Dean, you have your shoes on the wrong feet.

Dean—Well, they are the only feet I have.

Mary Jane Callahan (visiting New York museum)—Have you a mummy of King Tut here?

Attendant—No.

Mary Jane—Gosh! That's funny. They have a swell one in the British museum.

Mr. Roberts — Isn't that young man rather fast?

Bernadette—Yes, but I don't think he'll get away.

---

Aileen Furnas—What is an iceberg?

Calvin Rodgers—Why it's kind of a permanent wave.

---

Mrs. Crane—Now that Freddy is through school, are you going to take him into the business with you?

Mr. Crane—I dunno. Couldn't you use him for a bridge prize?

Wayne Bradbury—I don't like these pictures at all. I look like an ape.

Photographer—You should have thot of that before you had them taken.

---

Eleanor Bullock—Did you hear about the man who drowned the other day?

Mary Ellen McClure—Wasn't he a good swimmer?

Eleanor—Yes, but his boat upset in a lake where there was no swimming allowed.

---

Vernon Frisbie—May I have the last dance with you?

Patsy Nees—You've just had it.

---

Clayton Larson—Hey Bill, what would happen if you lost an ear?

Bill Campbell—I couldn't hear but half as well.

Clayton—And what would happen if you lost both ears?

Bill—I couldn't see.

Clayton—Couldn't see?

Bill—No, my cap would fall down over my eyes.

Don Dancer—Yes, 'um.

Miss McNiel—All right. Tell me what comes after B.

Don—All of the letters except A.

Johnny Allison—I feel terrible today.
I ate a dozen oysters last night.

Tommy Gaughan—Weren't they fresh?

Johnny Allison—I don't know.

Tommy—What did they look like when you opened them?

Johnny—Should I have opened them?

Carol Dunn—Is it easy to learn to play golf?

Patty Dye—Sure. All you do is smack the pill and walk.

Carol—How interesting! That's just like some of the auto rides I've been on.

Communist Version:

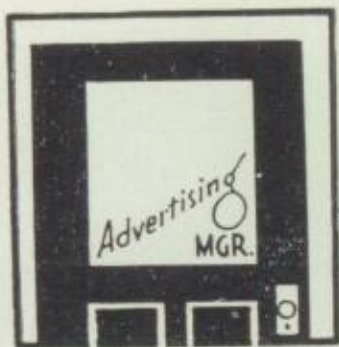

Thirty days hath September

April, June and November

All the rest have thirty-one,

Is that fair?

One of these days

(sooner than you think) you'll be buying printing plates.

Against that day, fix in your mind the name of BURGER-BAIRD. It will then be a more important fact to you than dates (historical—not the other kind) or irregular verbs or formulae.

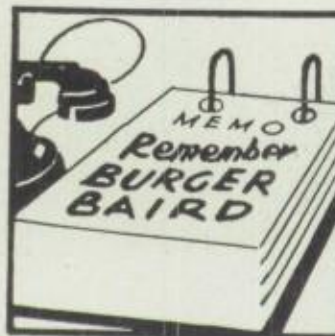

For while there are other good engravers, there is only one Burger-Baird.

Good plates? Yes, the best, and pride in their craftsmanship. Prompt with them, too.

But the main thing that keeps Burger-Baird the best known name among middle-west engravers seems to be—well, call it "savvy." It means interest and understanding, not merely for the engravings, but for your larger objectives as well.

People seem to like that, and so, no doubt, will you. Keep us in mind, won't you?

Opportunity knocks for every man, but a girl gets a ring.

Light heads are often behind headlights.

First she puts her powder on,
Then she combs her hair.
Then she applies her lipstick
Next she combs her hair,
Then she grabs her mirror
And combs her hair so fair,
Then she brings her nail file out
And files her nails with care;
And then proceeds to comb her hair.
She quietly settles down,
Piles her books way up to there
And then she combs her hair.

Toast from the students:
Here's to the faculty,
Long may they live;
Yes, even as long as the lessons they give.

What did the needle say to the nudist colony?
"So (sew) what?"

Steam—water gone crazy with the heat.
Wind—Air in a hurry.
Experience—What you have after everything else is gone.

Virginia Bryan—I took great pains to make this salad.
Rob Robley—Yes, I know, I got 'em.

Freddie crept into the house,
The cuckoo clock struck four;
Freddie crept close to the clock . . .
Then cuckooed eight times more!

Afternoon snack: The pause that re-fleshes.

The reason why a moth chewed the hole in the rug was that he wanted to see the floor show.

An only daughter's prayer: I ask nothing for myself but please send mother
a son-in-law.

Dorothy Griffin—(looking at an Egyptian mummy in a museum)
I wonder what this sign 1187 BC means?
Gwen Grant—That's probably the license number of the car that hit him.

Warden: Now that you are here for ten years, you may learn any trade. What would you like to be?
Prisoner: A traveling salesman.

Daffynitions—
Solo—The feeling you get after flunking a test.
Letter—What you do when she says
she'll get out and walk.
Fetter—How you get when you eat too much.
Mesh—Common way to fix potatoes.
Alimony—a man's cash-surrender value.
Piccolo—a woodwind instrument that nobody blows good.

Billy Bob Simms—What's the matter with your patent leather shoes?
Donald Black—I think the patent has expired.

Why is woman an angel?
Because she is always up in the air harping about something and never has an earthly thing to wear.

Farmer—Next I will tell you how we shock the wheat.
Barbara Defenbaugh—Dear me, should
I listen to this?

Mrs. Shive—Edison, what time is it?
Edison Shive—A quarter of twelve.
(clock strikes three)

Mrs. Shive—Edison, didn't I hear the clock strike three?

Edison—Yes, mother, but isn't three a quarter of twelve?

Mrs. Gaughan—What are the young man's intentions?

Shirley Gaughan—I don't know yet. He's been keeping me pretty much in the dark.

Rita Filkins—What's this thing, dear?

Keith Upson—Er—It's a pawn ticket.

Rita—Why didn't you get two so we could both go?

Ted Dunton—Boy, oh boy! That was some blonde you had with you last night. Where did you get her?

Jack Sherwood—Dunno. I just opened my billfold and there she was.

Diana Dunn—Jack is so awfully clever. He's got brains enough for two.

Bobby McNally—Congratulations, dear! He's just the man for you.

Where have you been these last few years?

I've been to school taking medicine.
Are you well now?

Miss DeLury—And so we find  $x$  equals 0.

Robert Moss—You mean that we did all that work for nothing.

If a scotchman gets $25 for a Roman vase, how much does a Grecian urn?

Nonsense—An elephant hanging over a cliff with his tail tied to a daisy.

Christine Callahan — Can you write shorthand?

Zelda Mae Swearengen — Yes, but it takes me longer.

Mr. Wallace (explaining a few plays to the earnest players.)—Suppose the ball is on the four-yard line, last down, one minute to play, and we are three points behind. What would you do, Case?

Roland Case—I'd move down the bench further where I could see better.

A Scotch undertaker advertised a big reduction in funeral rates and the next day there were 17 suicide cases reported.

As the sunshine said to the water on the grass: "Howdy Dew!"

As the ragweed said to the goldenrod: "Hey fever!"

Did you know—
That anti-aircraft was Uncle Sam's wife?
That a war rumor is a soldier in a boarding house?
That daylight savings time is just a government economy measure?
That a Rhode Island Red is a New England Communist?

As the hair said to the hair-ribbon: "You're my bow!"

Barber—Well, my little man, how do you wish to have your hair cut?

Bill Casserly—I'd like it cut just like my daddy's, and please don't forget to leave that little round hole on the top where his head comes through.

Mr. Castillo—What are some outstanding examples of wasted energy?

Orville Russell—Telling a hair-raising story to a bald headed man.

Little Miss Muffet sat in her seat
And she was feelin' quite blue,
When along came a boy
And sat down beside her,
And now she's really Woo-Woo!

(Pupils grading their own test)

Miss Lane—Are you keeping up with us Wendell?

Wendell Elliott—No, I have a few more to erase.

Then there was the book lover who remarked, "I visit my friends occasionally, just to look over my library."

---

Dr. Clark—Son you were out awfully late with the car last night. I presume you had a flat tire?

Jack—No, dad, if she had been, I wouldn't have been out late.

---

"Say, who's the girl with the French heels?"

"That's my sister. And those guys she's with aren't heels."

---

Laugh and the class laughs with you;
but you stay after school alone.

---

"How long have you been working at Cramer's?"

George Dennis—Oh, just since they threatened to fire me.

---

Junior Russell reported to work an hour late on Saturday morning. "Boy, you should be here at eight o'clock," said the boss, meaningly.

Junior—Why, what happened?

Reporter—What shall I say about the two peroxide blonds who made such a fuss at the game?

Editor—Just say the bleachers went wild.

Barbara Davis — Have you a steady beau?

Christine Callahan—I'll say he's steady. He drives better with one arm than most boys do with two.

Teachers (to bring out the idea of size) —mention a difference between an elephant and a flea.

Tom McGrath—Well, an elephant can have fleas, but fleas can't have an elephant.

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce.

"Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal; a request; the giving of a daughter in marriage; a bequest; and marriage itself the conquest. But what is divorce?"

Raymond Elliott—The inquest.

Dafynitions—

The Mediterranean and the Red sea are connected by the Sewage canal.

A great uncle is father of an uncle which has a nephew.

Extradition is tradition which is no longer believed.

---

"Daughter," said Mrs. Nees, "has that young man you're going with ever mentioned the subject of marriage?"

"Oh, yes!" yawned Patsy, "But I told him dad was so hard up he couldn't even afford tires for the car, let alone a husband for me."

Wayne Smith was confiding to Delbert Bryan that he found grammar very ticklish.

Wayne—For instance, I never can remember whether to say "It is I" or "It is me."

Delbert—I can give you a good rule, just say to yourself this rhyme: "It is I" said the spider to the fly," and there you are.

A few days later they met again, and Delbert asked if the rule worked.

Wayne—Well, it would have, but for one thing. I couldn't for the life of me remember whether your rhyme was "It is I said the spider to the fly" or "It is me, said the spider to the flea."

---

A manor house is where they teach manners. They don't build them now.

Mrs. Elliott—Now Bob, you must let your brother have the sled half of the time.

Bob Elliott—Yes, mother, I do. I have it going down the hill and he has it going up.

---

Miss Lewis, after the class had recited on "The landing of the Pilgrims" requested each pupil to draw from his imagination a picture of Plymouth Rock. Most of the students started in at once. Only one student hesitated.

Jules Funston—Please, ma'am, do you want us to draw a hen or a rooster?

---

Mrs. Sands—So your son Charles plays halfback on the school team?

Mrs. Moss—I'm not sure, as I don't understand the game, but I once heard a spectator say that he was a great drawback.

---

Mrs. Stockebrand—"What's happened, Ira?"

Mr. Stockebrand (who had gotten out of the car to investigate)—"Puncture."

Mrs. Stockebrand—"You ought to have been on the lookout for this, you remember the guide warned you there was a fork in the road."

Mrs. Anderson—What can we presume from the fact that men's brains are larger than the brains of a woman?

Betty Tharp—That it is more a question of quantity than quality.

Mr. Stevens—"You are evidently an honest lad. But the money I lost was a five dollar bill.

Bill Zonde—Yes, sir, I had it changed in case you wanted to give me a reward.

---

Mr. Sanders—Troubled with dispepsia in school today? That's a strange thing for a boy to have.

Dick Sanders—I didn't have it; I had to spell it.

GOING TO COLLEGE?

IF we all knew now what we will know in 1962 there would be NO reason or circumstance great enough to keep A SINGLE MEMBER of the CLASS of '42 from completing at least the 2 years offered by Independence Junior College.

Ask advice both from college graduates and those who did not go to COLLEGE and think it through. Your decision will be a source of either REGRET or SATISFACTION for the rest of your life.

Jane Ellen Parshall—Yes, a different one every night.

---

Mr. Cinotto—What happens when the body is immersed in water?

Mary Schaub—The telephone rings.

Vern McKinlay—We're going to have a swell time tonight. I have three seats for the theatre.

Diane Revelette—Why do we need three seats?

Vern—For your father, mother, and brother.

The latest idea for dining rooms is a rubber floor, four inches thick. This, of course, gives the carver a sporting chance that the turkey may bounce back onto the platter.

---

Edison Shive—I'm tired of going to school, father.

Mr. Shive—Why? What is your objection to going to school?

Edison—Oh, it breaks up the day so.

---

Miss McKenzie—This salad tastes terrible. Did you wash the lettuce?

Barbara Davis—Yes, even with soap.

Shirley Gaughan—But how can I be sure that you really care for me?

Bud Kors—Well, I can hardly sleep at night, thinking of you, dear.

Shirley—That doesn't prove anything. Father can hardly sleep, either, thinking of you.

---

Vernon Carpenter—You look like a smart girl—let's get married!

Jean Braden—Nothing doing—I'm just as smart as I look.

---

Getting along with the girls is just like making pie. All you need is a lot of crust and some applesauce.

If you were by yourself in a car and were being pursued by a desperate gang of criminals in another car doing forty miles an hour along a lonely road, what would you do?

Vernon Frisbie—Fifty.

Some people are born dumb, others acquired dumbness, and others take their overcoats off when they are getting weighed and hold them on their arms.

Miss Ingleman—Use the word “triangle” in a sentence.

Floyd Dawson—If fish don’t bite on grasshoppers, triangle worms.

Dee Regan—Is a chicken big enough to eat when it’s two weeks old?

Katie Allison—Certainly not.

Dee—Then how does it live?

Up to sixteen, a lad is a Boy Scout. After sixteen, he becomes a girl scout!

Lloyd Watson—How did you get all those freckles?

Dan Crowe—I think when I was a baby my mother let my face get wet too much and it rusted.

Jean Braden—What’s wrong with that soprano?

Evelyn Treger—She doesn’t practice what she screeches.

Patsy Nees—Whenever I’m down in the dumps, I buy myself a new hat.

Virginia Bryan—Oh, so that’s where you get them!

Mrs. Anderson—Please tell me what it is when I say, “I love, you love, he loves!”

Bill Todd—That’s one of them triangles where somebody gets shot.

Shirley Gaughan—What! Two new hats! Doesn’t that wreck your budget?

Rita Filkins—Of course not. Don’t you recall that I made a liberal allowance for overhead expenses.

Gas killed 31,879 people last year. 78 inhaled it, 907 lighted it, and 2,900 stepped on it.

Miss Todd (seriously)—Do you know who is the laziest person in this room?

Billy Bob Simms (innocently)—I dunno.

Miss Todd—You ought to. Who is it, when everybody else is industriously studying, sits and watches the rest of the room, or looks out of the windows?

Billy Bob (brightening) — Why, you, Miss Todd.

Mr. Stockebrand had asked the class to name all the states. Bill Todd responded so quickly and accurately that he commended him for it.

“You did very well,” he said, “much better than I could have done at your age.”

“Yeah, and there wuz only 13 states then, too.

Miss DeLury—If you have $10 in one pocket and $15 in the other, what have you?

Edward Todd—The wrong pants.

“Good gracious!” shouted Mrs. Anderson. “I asked you the simple question, “What is a fortification?” and get no answer!”

The scholars stared, but no one answered. The teacher tried again.

Pointing to the boy at the bottom of the class, she demanded: Tell me, Edison, what is a fortification?”

“Two twentyfications, ma’am,” came the answer.

Dean Stephenson — This insomania’s got me worried—I can’t sleep even when its time to get up.

Learning to Save . . .

AN IMPORTANT PART of every American Boy and Girl's education is learning to save. By learning to spend carefully and save regularly we are enabled to have happiness today and to lay aside something for another day.

IT IS NEVER TOO EARLY TO BEGIN TO SAVE. Many people wait until tomorrow to begin saving regularly. Remember, "That a part of all you earn is yours to keep."

Two little boys had misbehaved in school, and as a punishment the teacher told them that they would have to stay in late that each must write his name 100 times. On hearing this, one of them burst into tears.

"Tain't fair," he cried, "His name is Lee, and mine is Kastenbaumanstein."

Miss Lane—Do you think George Washington could have pitched a dollar across the Rappahannock river, as he is said to have done?

Buddy Sands—I don't know. I guess so. Our history book says he pitched his camp across the Delaware river when the British were pursuing him.

Edison Shive—If you marry me I'll take out a big life insurance policy on my life, so that you will be well provided for.

Berta Buckles—Yes, but suppose you don't die?

"Lady," said the policeman, who had motioned her to stop, "how long do you expect to be out?"

"What do you mean by that question?" demanded Rita Filkins indignantly.

"Well," he replied sarcastically, "there are a couple of thousand other motorists who would like to use this street after you get through with it."

Ted Dunton to Bobby McNally—Have you ever tried listening to a play with your eyes shut?

Ben Berg (from row behind)—Have you ever tried listening to one with your mouth shut?

Jacque Whistler—Father is pleased to hear you are a poet.

Bud Kors—Is he?

Jacque—Yes, the last of my sweeties he tried to throw out was a boxer.

Roland Case did not like the looks of the barking dog barring his way.

"It's all right," said Edison Shive: "Don't you know the proverb, 'Barking dogs never bite'?"

"Ah, yes," said Roland, "I know the proverb, but the dog—does he know the proverb?"

---

Miss Brown: What is the objective of "he?"

Dick Gooldy: "She".

---

"By whom?" asked the man who was told that his wife was outspoken.

---

Mr. Cinotto—You can't sleep in my class.

Bill Chappuie—If you didn't talk so loud I could.

A Chinese opened a laundry between a drug store and a restaurant. The drug-gist had a sign: "We Never Close." The restaurant announced: "Open at All Hours." So, within a few days the laundry exhibited this sign: "Me No Sleepy Too."

---

Mr. Smith—"Tee the ball."

Mr. Robley—"Sure, I see it, but why the baby talk?"

---

Paty Hopeman—I Want a glass of water for the radiator, a thimble full of oil for the motor, and a demi-tassi of gasoline. I guess that will be all.

Attendant—Couldn't I cough in your tires?

A star fell out of heaven.

Right into my arms—

Gosh! was the thing that hot!

---

Edison Shive—What are you taking up in school?

Jim Sherman—Space.

Mrs. Anderson—Can any of you tell me what is a stoic?

Wayne Smith—A stoic is a boid whot brings the babies.

Oh, George, I'm sorry I called you Jimmy. I was thinking this was Thursday.

---

Betty Tharp—Leo, who was Shylock?
Leo Osterhout—Goodness, Betty! You really don't know who Shylock was? Go and read your Bible!

---

Mary had a little lamb,
A lobster and some prunes,
A glass of milk, a piece of pie,
And then some macaroons.
It made the naughty waiters grin
To see her order so.
And when they carried Mary out,
Her face was white as snow.

---

After a most vigorous and not over-harmonious selection, the trombonist asked, "What's the next one?"

Mr. Andrews—Washington Post March.

Arthur VanDresser—My goodness! I just got thru playing that.

---

The Ford is my car,
I shall not want another.
It maketh me to lie down in wet places,
It soileth my soul,
It leadeth me into deep waters,
It leadeth me into the paths of ridicule
for its name sake,
It prepareth a breakdown for me in the presence of mine enemies,
Yea, though I run through the valleys
I am towed up the hills,
I fear great evil when it is with me,
It anointeth my face with oil,
Its tank runneth over,
Surely to goodness if this thing follow me all the days of my life
I shall dwell in the house of the insane forever.

Here lies the body of Jimmy Lake,
Tread softly, all who pass;
He thought his foot was on the brake,
But it was on the gas.

---

They met on the bridge at midnight,
They never will meet again,
For one was an eastbound heifer,
The other a westbound train.

---

Mary had a little lamp,
She filled it with benzine,
She went to light her little lamp,
She hasn't since benzine.

---

There was a man who fancied that
By driving good and fast,
He'd get his car across the track
Before the train came past;
He'd miss the engine cab by an inch,
And make the train hands sore,
There was a man who fancied this;
There isn't any more.

On being asked the question "What is Pasteurized milk?", Charles Shoemaker replied after pondering the question a few minutes,

"I suppose that it is a type of milk obtained from cows immediately after they have grazed in pastures."

Miss Cash—Can anybody tell me where we find mangoes?

Dickie Sanders—Yes, ma'am, it's wherever woman goes.

---

Gene Wortman—Golf is pie for me.

Rob Robley—Yes, I see you just took another slice.

---

Sid Cox—Bill, has fortune ever knocked at your door?

Bill Todd—He did once, but I was out. Ever since he has sent his daughter.

Sid—His daughter! Who is she?

Bill—Why, misfortune, of course.

Freshman—Daddy, may I go out? I'll be home at nine.

Sophomore—Dad, may I go out? I'll be home early.

Junior—Goodnight, dad. I'm going.

Senior—See you later, Pop. I'll bring in the milk.

High-brow—A person educated beyond his intelligence.

Bachelor — A man who never makes the same mistake once.

Friend—One who has the same enemies you have.

A girl whose hungry eyes aren't fixed
Upon some dirt that's being mixed;
A girl who doesn't even wear

Girls are loved by fools like me,
Cause who on earth would kiss a tree.

"You are a chemist and a druggist,
are you?"

"I am."

"Been in the business a number of years."

"I have."

"Do you understand your trade thoroughly?"

"I do."

"Registered?"

"Yes sir."

"Is that your diploma hanging there?"

"It is."

"Well, give me a package of gum."

Dick Scovel—I met a girl on the street last night and she never even spoke.

Ronald Paine—What did you do?

Dickie—I never let on I heard her.

Dog on the highway

Jean Braden— Oh, I see you got a

Pete Carpenter — Nope—I washed it last night and it shrunk.

The moon was high
The road was dark
A perfect place
To stop and park.
I gave a sigh,
I gave a groan,
I cursed the fate,
I was alone.

Barbara Belcher—You can't believe everything you hear.

Edith Palmer—No, but you can repeat it.

Katherine Allison—How do you get rid of these awful cooties?

Shirley McNally—That's easy. Take a bath in sand and rub down with alcohol.
The cooties get drunk and kill each other throwing rocks.

Sid Cox—Were you ever bothered with athlete's foot?

Arthur Van Dresser—Yes, once when the captain of the football team caught me dating his girl.

He kissed in the garden,
The moon was shining bright,
She was a marble statue,
And he was drunk that night.

Mr. Bevan—What do you have in your mouth?

Theodore St. John—Worms.

Mr. Bevan—Why don't you put them in your pocket?

Theodore—They're too dirty.

Well, Gene, another year has gone past, and I still don't know you as well as I would like to - but here's giving you the best luck any guy can get and here's ~~to~~ to a guy who'll go a long ways in this world before the cops catch him.

Joe Bob "Slick" Spangler
"The Chanute Kid"

Here's hoping you lots of luck in the future years as an actor for Anna. Don't tear your books up next year.

Walter M. Kain.

Dear Sen Wings
 Remember in the 7th grade? Wasn't silly, but I think that I still mean was I said in those notes signed "oi?"
 hope you get your
 at as I think you will. You ought to be "girl-crazy" and know a lot of its would be happy including me.
 Love
 Betty Braden

Dear Wings "Ha! Ha!"
 I will never forget
 you in dear old English.
 I don't think that Miss
 Anna will either. Well,
 I wish you a lot of luck.

Well Gene
I can't say much because everyone else has already said
it. But best of Luck to one swell fellow and I hope you and Mary Lee really go to town this year!

Floyd Deacon "Dawson"

Dear Gene,

Thanks for helping me
with my dining helmet. etc.
You're a good guy and I hope you take the state next year. Remember
"Frosty" and Frosty Lake Fegan.

Good Luck

Gene:

In the air the Navy really is the best
They can knock the beaten army galley west (and how)
But when the army and the Navy get together
They can ride through any kind of weather
And defeat the enemy at hand.
But just wait till they get in town the next morn
Then just watch those curvaceous cuties go for that "Navy" uniform.
I admitt the Army is very good
But really, Gene they never could Beat the Navy.

You are really a swell fellow and I wish you all the success in the world because you richly deserve it. But you should go to the Army all right because you are just as stubborn as a Army mule yourself - Leslie Barker

Lucky Boy
You can escape from Independence to town. I hope you

Gene,

If I plan right you and I are going places as individual runners and as a relay team we're the best. I only hope that all of us stick together and run the pants of the fellows in the state.

Gene you're a natural born long distance runner. Here's wishing you best of luck in every thing you do, take care of that back in football fellow.

Lots of Luck
Yours truly
Eddie Hugill

Dear Gene -

It is too bad you have to live in such a village with third grade basket ball and football teams. You have noticed what IOLA has done to you in the past and you know as well as I do we shall do it again. Well, I won't rub it in any longer because you know ~~that~~ this is a lot of bull anyway
